Grand Jury Probe Of Minneapolis Relief Strike

Investigation Ordered After Clashes Studied By Federal Agents

2 Recent Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General Murphy today ordered a United States federal grand jury investigation of the Minneapolis Work Projects Administration strike situation. He ordered it after an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Victor E. Anderson, United States district attorney at St. Paul, Minn., was directed to convene the grand jury.

"The Federal Bureau of Investigation will be presented to this grand jury," Murphy's announcement said.

"The grand jury will return indictments if, in its opinion, the facts warrant. The F.B.I. information will be disclosed only to the grand jury."

Justice Department officials have persistently refused to disclose what the F.B.I. investigation of the last several days has uncovered in the Minneapolis W.P.A. strike which last week resulted in two fatalities.

The new relief law forbids any person from keeping a man from work on the W.P.A. if he is eligible and wants to work.

COUPLE VOYAGE HALIFAX TO B.C.

W. C. Mooney and Wife And Two Others Journey In 16-Ton Craft

HALIFAX (CP)—The 16-ton converted Tanook, N.S., schooner Estey headed out of Halifax harbor today on the first lap of a vagabond voyage—a "second honeymoon," her owners call it—to the West Indies, South America and the Pacific coast.

Aboard were Mr. and Mrs. William C. Mooney of Vancouver and a two-man crew, Fred Horne and Jack Kanelakos of Halifax, the latter a photographer as well. A salute from the Nova Scotia schooner Bluebonnet, international fishermen's racing champion, which was tied up at a nearby pier, saw them off.

"We're just going to ramble along. We really don't know where we shall visit. We may change our minds anytime," Mooney said. "If we have a good time down south we may not get to Vancouver until a couple of years."

First stop, however, will be New York, where the Mooneys plan to visit the World's Fair. The couple crossed Canada last summer in a $20 automobile and trailer, spent the winter in Lunenburg and there dismantled their auto, using its parts for boat equipment.

Aboard the schooner are a fisherman's trawl-and-deep-sea fishing equipment, which they hope to use frequently. "You know, we expect the sea to supply us with a lot of grub," Mooney said.

Vice-Admiral Parry Dies

LONDON (CP)—Vice-Admiral Reginald St. Pierre Parry, 60, who did important work in charge of destroyers during the Great War, died today. He retired in 1931.

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 5 a.m. today—Ship reports are not available off the coast. A distant depression appears to be slowly approaching the Queen Charlotte Islands from the northwest. The weather has been generally clear and cool in northern and western British Columbia, but fair and warm in the Okanagan and Kootenay, also in the prairie provinces.

PLANE HELD FOR TIME AT JUNEAU

Officials Discipline Pilot for Landing; Then Let Him Go

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Pilot Kenneth Neese, who made a breakfast-to-supper flight north from Seattle two days ago bringing fresh vegetables, arranged to do some explaining to the government today.

On the way he stopped at Juneau, which is not an accredited port of entry for airplanes from Canada, and customs officials, he said, seized his plane and threatened to fine him $500. He was allowed to proceed after taking with him forms to fill out to explain his action.

His wife, their 12-year-old daughter and Mrs. Dorothy Hamerstein, Santa Ana, Calif., accompanied him on the flight.

The Chamber of Commerce took his side, adopting a resolution asking that Juneau be established as a port of entry, in addition to the present Fairbanks and Ketchikan.

Foreign Funds for Canadian Industry

European Capital Sets Up Number of Manufacturing Plants

TORONTO (CP)—Canada is assured of a considerable number of new manufacturing plants, to be operated by industrialists from central Europe. Details concerning their number, character and size are necessarily indefinite because of the reluctance of industrial commissioners, civic authorities and the federal departments at Ottawa to disclose information.

Interviewed by the Canadian Press, the chief of the Toronto Industrial Commission, a business and civic group engaged in fostering new industries, declined to give any detailed information, though he admitted foreign money was coming to Canada for industrial purposes.

According to a Canadian Press survey a half dozen or more Canadian cities and towns are assured of industrial expansion as a result of the exodus from Europe. The largest project to date is the shoe manufacturing plant to be located at Frankford, Ont., by the Bata concern of Czechoslovakia. The plant is now being set up and the outlook is for a working staff of 1,800 from the start.

Prescott, Ont., has attracted two new plants, one a glove factory to be operated by a Parisian and a Czechoslovakian and the other a toy factory, promoted by a Czechoslovakian. Huntingdon, Quebec, is in line for a textile plant to be established by a Polish group. At Levis, Quebec, a Belgian industrialist, George L'Hoire, is planning to erect a plant for the manufacture of aluminum pots and pans.

A $2,000,000 sugar plant is planned for Manitoba's Red River valley. The promoter, Albert Flagenheimer, is said to be the owner of 26 sugar factories and four distilleries in Germany, Italy, Belgium, Bulgaria and Roumania.

European interests, supported by British capital, are reported to be organizing a $2,500,000 rayon industry at North Vancouver. At New Westminster, B.C., Pacific Veneer Limited, backed by Austrian interests, has just started operations with 50 employed and Alaska Pine Limited, also at New Westminster and promoted by Czechoslovakia industrialists, expects to begin operations in a few days with 100 men employed.

Falling Log Kills Courtenay Man

COURTENAY—Lawrence Siddons, driver for the W. W. Logging Co., operating on the Dyke Road, was killed at noon today. Siddons was knocking the cheese block out of the bunker when a log slipped, crushing him between the brow log and the dump. He leaves a wife and one child here. An inquest will be held Thursday night.

Rains Hamper Aberhart

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Aberhart returned to Edmonton today from the Peace River territory, forced to postpone his speaking dates there this week because of heavy weekend rains. The downpour made side roads impassable. The Premier addressed one meeting at Falher.

Vancouver Begins Fourth Deathless Days Campaign

With Third Drive Since July 1 Ended By Death, New Effort Made

Narrow Escape Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's traffic safety campaign committee turned back its Georgia Street "clock" today for the fourth time as it started again on a "100 deathless days" drive, broken three times since it was inaugurated July 1.

The third attempt in the safety campaign ended late yesterday when W. A. Hanna, 50-year-old Canadian National Railway employee from Kamloops, was fatally injured in a suburban street intersection collision.

Hanna's car was struck at 54th and Granville by a passenger-filled bus whose driver said he was unable to avert the accident when Hanna drove through a stop sign directly across his path.

Hanna was alone in the car, which was thrown 50 feet into a roadside ditch by force of the collision.

Hanna's death was the 15th traffic fatality in Vancouver since January 1.

While safety committee officials believed the current wave of accidents and fatalities—six people have died in various accidents since the deathless days campaign was first attempted July 1—would impress the public with need for added caution, another accident was narrowly averted early today.

Quick action of Chris Barker was credited with preventing a collision in crowded traffic when the driver of the truck in which he was riding collapsed and died at the steering wheel.

Barker said he was riding to work with Alex Campbell, 65-year-old plastering contractor, along Kingsway when the driver collapsed, his hands dropping from the wheel and his foot jamming down on the accelerator.

Barker made a grab for the wheel as the truck veered wildly among early morning city-bound traffic and narrowly missed a pedestrian waiting for a street car.

The truck zig-zagged for two blocks before Barker was able to bring it under control.

Campbell's death was believed due to a sudden heart seizure.

Commerce Chambers To Meet in Canada

LONDON (CP)—The congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire today voted to hold its 1942 meeting in Canada, the city to be decided by members of the Canadian delegation to the present congress.

Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Vancouver have been mentioned. Congresses were held at Toronto in 1920 and in Montreal in 1933.

Invitations were received also from Jamaica, Bermuda and Sydney, Australia.

Canadian delegates said a decision as to the venue of the 1942 meeting would probably be made while they were traveling home or soon after their arrival.

ARRESTS ON U.S. SHIP IN JAPAN

Several Passengers Charged With Breaking Currency Laws

KOBE, Japan (AP)—Police boarded the United States liner President Pierce today and arrested several passengers on charges of violating laws restricting the amount of Japanese currency brought into Japan.

It was the first case of a foreign ship being boarded for this purpose.

The names and nationalities of those arrested were not made known, but the officer who conducted the examination said the charges were not serious.

The law forbids bringing in more than 200 yen ($54). The yen can be bought in the open Shanghai market cheaper than in Japan, where the rate of about 27 cents per yen is maintained. In Shanghai the yen has fallen as low as 16 cents.

Reports On Tokio Talks Differ

Angry Scene, Says A.P. Of Japanese, British; Conciliatory Say Others

TOKIO (CP-Havas).—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita and British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie met twice Wednesday for conferences totaling nearly five hours as Anglo-Japanese negotiations were resumed over issues arising out of the Tientsin blockade.

A Foreign Office communiqué at the close of the second meeting said the negotiators had held a "discussion on general questions forming the background to the situation at Tientsin."

Domet (Japanese news agency) said Sir Robert "manifested a conciliatory attitude although he clearly stated the stiff opinion prevailing in Britain."

"In view of the conciliatory attitude manifested by Sir Robert, it is further understood there is no occasion for pessimism regarding future prospects," the semi-official agency added.

(The Associated Press, on the other hand, described the conferences as "heated" and quoted an authoritative source to the effect that the negotiators had parted "angrily." The dispatch said the Japanese Foreign Minister had remained adamant on his contention the talks would be useless unless they included the question of Britain's general Chinese policy.)

B.C. LOG SCALE MAKES BIG GAIN

Reflecting increased activity in the logging camps, the provincial log scale for the first months of 1939 in British Columbia showed an increase of more than 30% as compared with last year.

Figures announced by the forest service place the scale to the end of June at 1,563,373,568 board feet compared to 1,167,690,661 board feet last year.

In addition to saw logs there were 4,069,078 lineal feet of poles, 90,503 cords of cut wood and 350,512 hewn ties scaled in the period.

British Planes Make Second Flight to France

100 Bombers Seen On Long Training Circuits Across Channel

Start Kept Secret

LONDON (CP)—Nearly 100 Royal Air Force planes took part today in the second of a series of extensive training flights over French territory.

Today's exercises were divided into two parts. A group of Blenheim bombers left British bases at 7 a.m., made a circuit over Paris, Orleans and Chartres and returned after three hours.

Captain Harold Balfour, Under-Secretary of State for Air, personally flew with the second group, a number of Wellington and Whitley bombers which flew to the Mediterranean in the vicinity of Marseilles. This involved a round-trip nonstop flight of nearly 1,500 miles.

The first British air exercises over France were carried out July 11 with more than 100 planes participating.

Plans for today's flights were kept secret by the Air Ministry until the majority of the planes had returned to their bases. The public's first word of the flights came when reports reached London that British planes had been seen over France.

The fliers themselves were understood not to have known where they were going until they opened sealed orders in the air.

Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood hinted in the House of Commons that Royal Air Force bombers might make practice flights over the territories of Britain's allies in eastern Europe similar to those over France.

Asked whether the government intended to arrange flights to Poland, Turkey, Roumania and other countries, he said:

"I hope it will be possible to arrange other practice flights in addition to those already referred to, but I am not at present in a position to give any details."

MORTGAGE BANK PLAN STUDIED HERE

Hart Expected to Discuss it at Ottawa On Trip East

Operation of the new Central Mortgage Bank as it affects holdings in British Columbia is now being studied by the provincial government and probably will be the subject of discussions with federal authorities.

As it is understood here, the plan may not become effective immediately in this province, which has a moratorium law governing certain classes of mortgages. The moratorium expires, however, at each session of the Legislature and could be dropped this fall.

Meantime, provincial officials said they were seeking further detail on the exact operation of the new bank. Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, who will go to New York in September to sign the coupons of a bond issue floated a few months ago, is expected to visit Ottawa at the same time to go thoroughly into the question.

Wide Neutrality Campaign in U.S.

Roosevelt May Address Voters as Senate Delays; Special Session If Crisis in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House aide today said President Roosevelt would have to call a special session of the United States Congress to act on neutrality legislation should a crisis develop in Europe after adjournment.

The statement came from Stephen Early, Mr. Roosevelt's press secretary.

When asked whether the President was going to present the neutrality issue to the country, Early replied that "from the time Congress adjourns until it reconvenes in January, the President will pray as never before in all his life that there will be no new crisis in Europe."

The President reluctantly accepted last night the advice of Senate leaders that he should abandon hope of obtaining neutrality revision—principally repeal of the arms embargo to warring nations—at this session, but there were strong indications that from now until the issue arises at the start of the next session he will take his fight, for repeal directly to the people in a series of addresses.

Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, California, an adamant opponent of Mr. Roosevelt's neutrality proposals, told reporters that "if the President does go to the country we'll go too. We'll go on the slogan that this country wants no war."

The Senate leaders, Democrats and Republicans, met Mr. Roosevelt in his White House study and in the course of the three-hour discussion persuaded him and State Secretary Cordell Hull that Congress was not disposed to present to spend a month debating neutrality legislation.

The President argued that the Senate's failure to act would weaken the United States' influence in preserving world peace.

CLASH WITH BORAH
According to one of the conferees, the President asserted his intention to take the issue to the country in the course of an acrimonious exchange with Senator William Borah, Republican, Idaho, a leader of the Senate bloc opposed to lifting the embargo on shipments of arms to all belligerents.

It was reported the President insisted that full responsibility for the abandonment of the legislation and all the consequences, should a war develop abroad before Congress reconvenes, should be placed on the Senate. This, the informant added, brought from Borah a vehement assertion that

Alaska Highway Board's Hearing Here On July 24

Canadian Commission Back From North; To Meet U.S. Spokesmen

Motor to Blaine

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. M. Wardle of Ottawa said here today the Canadian section of the British Columbia-Alaska Highway Commission was agreeable to a suggestion from U.S. Congressman Magnuson that it hold its first joint meeting with the American commissioners in Victoria, July 24.

The joint commission will discuss the feasibility of constructing a highway through British Columbia to Alaska, a project which has been advocated in some quarters for several years.

The Canadian commissioners, led by their chairman, Hon. Charles Stewart, former Dominion Minister of the Interior, arrived in Vancouver today after a tour which took them to centres in northern British Columbia and the Yukon through which the proposed highway may be routed.

This afternoon they traveled to the peace arch at Blaine, Wash., over what would be the southern British Columbia section of the proposed highway. A. Dixon, British Columbia's deputy Minister of Public Works, acted as guide.

The commission's first public meeting in Vancouver will be held tomorrow morning, when the Board of Trade and other interested parties will present briefs.

Mr. Stewart said on his arrival the commission had covered parts of two possible routes through the north during its travels. In addition, Mr. Wardle, chief engineer of the Dominion Department of Mines and Resources, conducted aerial surveys over the proposed routes with L. J. Burpee, secretary of the commission.

"We started at Prince George, and from there went on to Vanderhoof, Burns Lake, Smithers and Hazelton," said Mr. Stewart. "We touched also at Fort St. James and Prince Rupert, and from Prince Rupert went on to Stewart, B.C., Skagway, Alaska, Carcross and White Horse, Y.T., and Atlin, B.C."

"I covered all the eastern route from Prince George northward," said Mr. Wardle, "and the northern part of the western route, which would run north from Hazelton."

So far, the Canadian commission has worked chiefly on the proposed routes of the highway. The meetings with the United States section are expected to be concerned with financing the all-weather, 22-foot wide, graveled road which it is estimated would cost about $22,000,000.

Britain in Dilemma Over Chinese Money

LONDON—Following collapse of the Shanghai dollar yesterday from 13 cents to 10.5 cents, American money, the British cabinet today considered whether Britain would replenish its depleted $25,000,000 contribution to the $50,000,000 Chinese stabilization fund created last March.

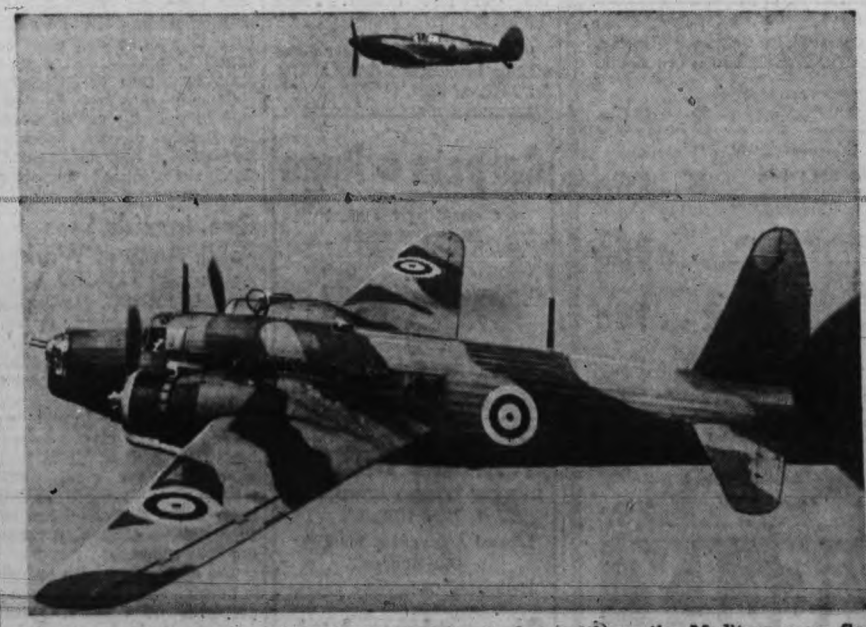

At a time when Japan is demanding that Britain abandon aid to General Chiang Kai-shek, the problem poses Britain in an awkward position, because refusal to continue supporting Chinese currency would substantially improve Japan's prospects of achieving complete economic monopoly of North China and the Yangtze Valley. On the other hand, support of the Shanghai dollar is also playing into the hands of the Japanese.

Off Shanghai Standard

TOKIO — The China Affairs Board has decided to suspend linking of the notes issued by the Japan-sponsored Huasheng commercial bank with the Shanghai or Chungking dollar, according to the Domei news agency. The Huasheng notes will be pegged at 6 pence.

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — Nazi newspapers warned Belgium today that it was "playing with fire" in connection with a newspaper campaign in that country against the spread of German propaganda.

Today in Europe

Hopes for Pact With Russia

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain declared today he hoped to be able to announce conclusion of a British-French-Russian mutual assistance pact before Parliament recesses August 4, but he said "we certainly have not got an agreement yet."

Mr. Chamberlain made his statement in reply to questions in the House of Commons on the Moscow negotiations. He was questioned also on the Far Eastern situation and on Danzig.

"The British and French ambassadors in Moscow had a further meeting with M. Molotov (Soviet foreign commissar) on Monday," said Mr. Chamberlain. "Their report is now being considered by His Majesty's government in consultation with the French government."

High Dalton, Labor, asked: "Are we today nearer an agreement as a result of all these instructions and transmissions than we were a week ago?"

"We certainly have not got an agreement yet," Mr. Chamberlain replied.

F. C. Watkins, Labor, then asked whether the Prime Minister anticipated that "the negotiations will be concluded in time to make an announcement before the House goes into recess."

"I hope so," replied Mr. Chamberlain.

Asked by another questioner whether the government had any information "regarding the proposal for a loan of $25,000,000 from the German government to Russia," Mr. Chamberlain answered "No."

William Wedgwood Benn, Labor, asked whether the Prime Minister had "noticed the suggestion made in the U.S. Senate the Brussels conference might be recalled."

This was an apparent reference to a resolution introduced in the United States Senate yesterday by Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, urging the administration to call a conference of nine nations to pass judgment on Japan's military campaign in China. It proposed the Brussels conference of 1937, now in recess, be recalled for the purpose.

"I have not noticed that," Mr. Chamberlain told his questioner. Asked whether the government would consider the advisability of sending detachments of British and French troops to the neighborhood of the Free City "to make clear our determination to stand firm," Mr. Chamberlain made no reply.

He was asked whether Germany had imported any heavy artillery into Danzig and Foreign Undersecretary R. A. Butler answered "information in the foreign secretary's possession does not confirm any such report."

Poles' Demands Delay British Loan

By PAUL LOUIS BRET
Havas Correspondent

LONDON — Poland's insistence on being left free to purchase war material in the best market with the proceeds of a proposed British loan was reliably reported today to have placed a serious obstacle in the way of Anglo-Polish financial negotiations here.

The Polish negotiators headed by Adam Koc have been arguing for some time that they should be permitted to use part of the credit being offered to buy arms where they can get the materials easiest, and not only in allied nations, where most of the munitions factories are busy working for their own national defence.

It was learned in Polish circles that an important conference took place yesterday at the Treasury here, attended by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon.

Sir John was said to have argued that an Anglo-French-Polish commission should control the use of the proposed credit, but Col. Koc stuck to the thesis that Poland must be given greater freedom in the matter. It was reported that unless the British representatives change their stand Col. Koc will leave for Warsaw to confer with his government.

Muffler for Airplane Motors Described

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — A "silent" airplane motor muffler which might enable fighting craft to raid enemy territory with greater safety was described to the French Association for the Advancement of Science which met here yesterday.

The new silencer was described by Jean Bosquet, engineer for the Liege Cockerill motor works, as "just exactly the opposite of a radio loud-speaker." Its effect, he said, is to tone down ear-splitting acoustic power by reducing the frequency of sounds blasted out by the motor cyclinders.

"The silencer as described would still leave the noise of the propeller, which engineers so far have been unable to eliminate."

New Measures to End Terrorism

British Commons Asked For Legislation to Deport I.R.A. Plotters

LONDON (CP) — The government today asked Parliament for extraordinary powers to stamp out the Irish Republican Army terrorist campaign in Great Britain.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Home Secretary, introduced a bill in the House of Commons to empower the government to deport or refuse entry into Great Britain of men and women suspected of being connected with the I.R.A. or similar terrorist organizations.

In addition, suspects could be ordered to register with the police, who would have wide rights of search.

The purpose of the legislation is to prevent "the commission in Great Britain of acts of violence designed to influence public opinion or government policy with respect to Irish affairs."

The legislation incorporates for the first time in British history deportation or refusal of entry to British subjects. It will apply to any British subject from any part of the Empire, but in practice only to Irishmen, both from Eire and Northern Ireland.

There will be no appeal from the decisions of the Home Secretary. The legislation will have a life of two years and is considered purely an emergency enactment.

The government hopes the legislation will be passed by the House next week. The drastic powers are being sought not only to suppress I.R.A. bombings but to combat the danger of sabotage in a general emergency.

ONLY SHADOWED

The government, unlike Canada and the other dominions, has no power to deport or refuse entry to British subjects. Although police have watched suspected I.R.A. agents entering the country from Eire they have been powerless to do anything but shadow them.

The government turned down a suggestion that the I.R.A. be outlawed in Britain as in Eire and Northern Ireland because of the difficulty in proving who are members. Similarly the government vetoed suggestions that I.R.A. members be interned because this smacked too much of continental concentration camps.

If the present legislation fails to keep I.R.A. members out of Britain, a government spokesman hinted that visas might be required for all tourists and immigrants from Ireland.

20 Held By Danzig Police as Plotters

DANZIG (AP) — Danzig police announced today that 20 Marxian Socialists, "presumably associated with some hostile foreign power," had been arrested here.

The police said they had evidence that explosives were being stored by the "Marxians" and that the alleged conspirators were prepared to blow up bridges.

They asserted the prisoners would be charged with treason. The announcement did not name the power with which the prisoners were accused of having relations, but authorized sources said the police were trying to find out if "the conspiracy extended into Poland and Russia."

Authorities said the 20 were arrested over the course of several weeks.

The Socialist party was outlawed in Danzig in 1933. The police also announced details of "emergency measures" taken since Danzig-Polish relations became acute. They said the Free City police force had been increased to about 4,000 men on active duty. In addition Free City authorities were authorized by special decree to conscript more men for "police duty."

Official quarters in Berlin said they had received word of the Danzig arrests "purely informatively" and added that "the Reich has nothing to do with it."

Gen. Ironside Sees Polish Army at Work

WARSAW (AP) — General Sir Edmund Ironside, inspector-general of British overseas forces, today began an inspection of various branches of the army Poland holds ready to meet any German invasion.

Polish cavalry units were turned out and staged exercises before the visitor. This branch is one of the most unusual weapons in modern military organizations. Poland has some 40 regiments of cavalry, numbering 40,000 men.

The cavalry has been organized in keeping with Polish terrain and problems of defence. Cavalrymen are trained and equipped, including easily portable machine guns, to fight as infantrymen, both on offence and defence.

CHINESE ARMIES CLAIM GAINS

SHANGHAI (AP) — Chinese military reports from the deep interior Wednesday told of major successes against Japanese forces long stalemated in Hupeh and Shansi provinces, the present main theatres of combat in the two-year-old Japanese-Chinese war.

These advances said a large-scale battle was in progress in southeastern Shansi province. The Chinese reported their foe had lost 7,000 men there in the past fortnight.

On other fronts, about 1,000 miles west of Hankow, the Chinese reported they were pushing the invaders back from the Han River, which they had been trying to cross since a few weeks after the fall of Hankow last October 26.

Latest developments in Anglo-Japanese friction in China—a Japanese charge that a British soldier on the outskirts of Shanghai bayoneted a Chinese railway crossing employee—brought the threat of an anti-British boycott from the Japanese operators of the war-commandeered central China railways. They said they might refuse railway facilities to Britons and British goods.

Chinese Make Gas Masks in Hongkong

HONGKONG (AP) — The latest and largest Chinese war enterprise to find protection and profit in this British crown colony is the Safety Industrial Company, a $1,000,000 concern which manufactures gas masks for General Chiang Kai-shek's armies.

Transferred to Hongkong after the Japanese took Shanghai, the factory, only a few hundred yards from Royal Air Force headquarters, is turning out 500 masks a day. Plant additions and installation of new machinery from Germany are expected to double the output soon.

New High Commissioner

LONDON (CP) — Sir Edward Hard Harding, now permanent Under-Secretary for Dominions, will go to the Union of South Africa as British High Commissioner to Canada.

Sir Cosmo Parkinson, permanent colonial under-secretary, will succeed Sir Edward. Sir Cosmo's post in the ministry of colonies will be taken over by Sir George Gater, at present clerk of the London county council.

Treasury Board Meets

In Charlottetown

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—For the first time in the history of Canada, a meeting of the Dominion treasury board was held outside of Ottawa yesterday.

In the historic room in the Province Building where the idea of Confederation was born in 1864, a quorum of Prime Minister King's colleagues gathered and held a session of the board behind closed doors.

The five who transacted the treasury business were Resources Minister T. A. Crerar, Postmaster-General Norman Mc Larty, Revenue Minister J. L. Ilsley, Labor Minister Norman Rogers and Transport Minister C. D. Howe.

French Novelist Dies

MEUNG-SUR-LOIRE, France (CP-Havas)—Maurice Larrouy, French novelist who had an adventurous career as naval captain, submarine commander, aviator and dirigible pilot, died yesterday.

ONTARIO GRAND JURIES MAY END

Report Submitted to Government After Inquiry
Suggests Abolition

TORONTO (CP)—Abolition of the grand jury system in Ontario is recommended in an interim report of F. H. Barlow, master of the Supreme Court of Ontario, made public yesterday by Attorney-General Gordon Conant.

Mr. Barlow was directed last December to make a survey of the administration of justice in the province with a view to speeding litigation, shortening trials, simplifying procedure in criminal cases and generally lessening the cost of justice.

Retention of 12-men juries in criminal cases, with a provision that at least half the jurors have continued their education beyond primary schools, is recommended. Appointment of one or two substitute jurors to prevent mistrials because of the illness or death of a juror is another suggestion.

For civil cases above the division courts, Mr. Barlow would reduce the number of jurors to six and put an onus of expense on the person seeking a jury in a civil action. In division court civil actions he would abolish juries.

The grand jury system was abolished in British Columbia 8 years ago.

Want Wheat Board As Selling Agency

REGINA — The Canadian Wheat Board will be asked to act as selling agency for wheat marketed through pools to be operated by the three prairie wheat pool organizations this year, it was decided yesterday at the meeting of the directors of the three pools.

A similar set-up was proposed for the marketing of coarse grains under pools to be set up in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta.

A statement issued by the directors said the wheat pooling system would only apply to wheat marketed by individual producers in excess of the 5,000 bushels which they are entitled to deliver to the Canadian Wheat Board under the minimum guarantee of 70 cents a bushel.

Warning Fir Supply Lessened

VANCOUVER (CP)—There is a danger of a sharp diminution of Douglas fir in British Columbia during the next 25 years, according to Major L. R. Andrews, manager of the British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association.

Speaking to a service club here yesterday, Mr. Andrews said:

"We are cutting our Douglas fir at a far greater rate than is justified by production. Unless something is done to create new crops you will see Douglas fir very much diminished during the next 25 years."

He said the people of the province were responsible for the future of the lumber industry in British Columbia, adding that without the necessary appropriation of public moneys forest conservation could not be undertaken.

Mr. Andrews said that last year 745,000,000 feet of lumber was shipped to the United Kingdom.

"We have now convinced them we are out to supply their market with commodities as good or better than they can get elsewhere at a competitive price," he said.

New York Fair Cuts Down Staff

NEW YORK (AP)—In its most drastic economy move so far, the New York World's Fair last night dismissed several hundred of its employees—grounds information men and operations department workers.

The information officers, who paced the grounds in blue and yellow uniforms festooned with gold braid, were mainly college boys. After the "cadets" were given the sad news they yanked off the gold braid, badges and other paraphernalia.

One group waded about 100 yards through a long pool on the fair's main avenue, yelping, pulling out their shirt tails, and generally establishing the greatest possible contrast with their previous decorous professional demeanor.

Jewish Students Barred

PRAGUE (AP)—The education ministry decreed yesterday that Jewish students no longer might attend either public or private German schools in the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia.

OLD DIAMOND HORSESHOE ENDS

New Financing
For Metropolitan Opera
Proposed By Shareholders

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor
NEW YORK—The "diamond horseshoe" is about to bow out of the Metropolitan Opera, leaving its future financial support up to the masses instead of the classes.

For more than a half century the shareholders in the Metropolitan Opera and Real Estate Company, who are also the owners of the 35 boxes of the famous glittering horseshoe, have controlled opera in New York.

All the original shareholders—leaders of the "400" during the gilded age—are dead, and Robert S. Brewster, president of the real estate company, said it no longer was possible to finance the opera house on the old terms.

Brewster said the real estate company decided yesterday to propose that shareholders sell the opera house storage warehouse to the Metropolitan Opera Association, the company which actually produces the operas.

The association has asked to buy the properties for $1,500,000, subject to a mortgage of $470,000.

Cornelius N. Bliss, chairman of the Opera Association, said his organization had in mind "the possibility of enlisting civil groups to join with the Opera Association in establishing a permanent musical centre."

MILITARY PLANES SURVEY LABRADOR

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is interested in the coastline of Labrador as an element entering into the defence of the country, and a survey of the area is being undertaken by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Three airplanes commanded by Wing-Commander G. N. Brooks left Dartmouth, N.S. yesterday to begin the survey.

It could not be ascertained today if the present expedition to Labrador will choose places where aircraft may be stationed. The extent to which these would be garrisoned would lie with the British government, which is responsible for the defence of Newfoundland and Labrador.

It is understood, however, Canadian authorities have represented that efforts undertaken by this country for the defence of its Atlantic regions must be tied up with the defences of Newfoundland.

Prison Board Soon To Be Appointed

OTTAWA (CP)—With the return of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Justice Minister, from his vacation, appointment of the penitentiaries commission is expected at an early date.

The commission will consist of three men who will have full control and management of the penitentiaries and will replace the superintendent of penitentiaries who, with the aid of inspectors, has administered the institutions in the past.

G. L. Sauvage, acting head of the penitentiaries branch for more than a year, will probably occupy a prominent place in the new set-up, either as a commissioner or assistant commissioner.

Federal District Plan for Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—A committee of the Ottawa city council headed by Mayor Stanley Lewis will study the proposal to make the capital a federal district such as Washington, Canberra in Australia and several capitals of South American republics.

For almost half a century the question of a federal district has been before Ottawa ratepayers and at least two reports, one by Sir Herbert Holt, have been submitted in the light of present conditions.

During the past five years the Dominion has taken over $13,500,000 of Ottawa property. As soon as expropriated, the city loses the taxes.

Objection to a federal district is that the citizens would lose their franchise in Dominion and provincial elections.

One Arrested, One Flees as Police Fire

VANCOUVER (CP)—A burglar suspect was arrested and a second, who failed to heed a warning shot, escaped when police surprised the men in the Camore Briquets Company's office here early today.

Arriving on the scene, police saw a man leap through a window and flee into the darkness.

The man did not stop when Constable Bert Barnes fired in the air, but a second man found leaving the premises a short time later was taken to headquarters and booked for investigation.

World Trade Pacts On Ottawa Pattern

Empire Chambers of Commerce Endorse
Suggestion From Canada

LONDON (CP)—"If we can succeed somehow in launching a movement similar to the Ottawa agreements on a world scale we would have the greatest hope of solving the problems facing the world today," J. Stanley McLean of Toronto told the congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire today.

The delegate of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce described the Ottawa conference as "the most successful experiment made on a large scale to relieve the conditions of depression." In an extension of Ottawa, he said, lies the best hope of the world, economically and internationally.

The congress voted unanimously a long resolution submitted by Mr. McLean on behalf of the Canadian chambers.

The resolution said it was desirable to expand intra-Empire trade, and the best instrument to this end was to maintain and modify existing trade agreements.

It declared that in preparation for modification of agreements it is important that the governments consult those engaged in affected trades and said government enactments themselves were not sufficient and that permanent expansion of trade must be based on quality products and continuity of supply.

AID TO PEACE

Further, the resolution declared, the time had come to extend the principle of the Ottawa agreements into the world field. Such extension was desirable as a means to advance general economic welfare, but was still more desirable as an instrument for promoting world peace.

The first step to this end, it continued, should be multilateral agreements such as the recent tripartite pact involving the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada.

Seconding the resolution on behalf of the Montreal Board of Trade, A. O. Dawson emphasized "the unequalled atmosphere of responsibility and realism" in which the delegates were debating intra-imperial trade problems in the war-mangled world.

He urged that delegates impress their governments with the "magnificent" spirit of close contact between the Dominions and the mother country exemplified by the congress.

The Montrealer brought cheers from the delegates with a declaration that "if the sacrifice is necessary you can count on Canada, with the other Dominions, to do her share."

AID FOR COLONIES

The congress voted with only one dissentient, a Trinidad Chamber of Commerce resolution urging that all possible consideration be given to the interests of the colonies by His Majesty's government when entering trade or clearing agreements with foreign countries in order that the colonies might obtain, among other things, reasonable tariff concessions and a fair share of official exchange to be applied to direct shipments of produce or re-export from the United Kingdom of such produce.

Evidence On Drunkenness

VANCOUVER (CP)—Recommendation that police constables be instructed in collecting evidence and presenting it in cases against drunken drivers is being made to Vancouver police officials by City Prosecutor Oscar Orr.

Evidence in many cases, the prosecutor said in an interview yesterday, is not presented in a manner which indicates the true condition of the accused drivers at the time police arrest them.

A Real Contribution

PERSONS WHO DO NOT GET FAR FROM the cities know little of the accomplishments of single unemployed men and the real contribution they are making on well-organized government undertakings.

The provincial government must be complimented on the progress of its policy of employing on work of lasting benefit those who would otherwise be idle. From one end of this island to the other there are monuments to the industry of young men sent to live healthy, useful lives in the country, away from the cities which had offered them little but the temptations to which idleness leads. Under pleasant, if not luxurious, conditions they have accomplished a great deal to make many of our island beauty spots more accessible to travelers. Such places as Englishman's River Falls, Qualicum Falls and Little Qualicum Falls have been transformed to resemble the national parks which are so admired on the Pacific or the Redwood highways to California. Farther up the island Elk Falls, Campbell River Falls and Stamp Falls have benefited through the industry of these young men. Trails have made it possible for all who wish to visit these spectacular beauty spots. Rustic picnic tables and archways have been built. Dead wood and brush have been cleared.

Residents near these places speak with high praise and appreciation of the work. In all of it good taste has been shown, with no garish clashes with nature. The men have worked in the woods largely with what nature had provided. They have preserved beauty, not destroyed it.

For Monday Holidays

CHANGES IN THE KING'S BIRTHDAY surely provide whatever precedent may be necessary for rationalizing the occurrence of some of our other holidays throughout the year. We are thinking of May 24 and July 1, particularly. How much more sensible and convenient it would be for all if the observance of these anniversaries were fixed on Mondays. The longer weekend would enable more advantage to be taken of the holidays.

The St. Catharines Standard has joined the Financial Post in campaigning for such a change. "Just why Parliament should be obdurate against a commonsense change in national holiday observance is a mystery," says the Standard. "Why hold to dates rather than improve the days? It was good business always to have the first Monday in September set aside as Labor Day and the government also sets a Monday for Thanksgiving Day.

"Of course, Christmas is in a different category. Neither loyalty nor reverence for national achievement in the past would be diminished one iota if the Canadian people took their holidays on the Monday rather than on the calendar date.

"If they can monkey around with the King's birthday and set almost any day necessary for its observance, we surely can change a national holiday in the Dominion to conform to the convenience and enjoyment of the people."

Compulsory Voting?

RECENT BY-ELECTIONS IN GREAT Britain have brought to the fore again the question of whether compulsory voting should be introduced. In most of these contests only about half of the electorate has gone to the polls and it is being argued that a penalty should be imposed for not exercising the franchise.

The advocate of compulsory voting argues that it will secure a real view of the majority; it will raise the voice of those who grumble about everything but take no pains to mend anything. That is what he says. But what he really thinks, one suspects, is that it will bring out more people to vote the way he thinks they ought to vote. Who ever heard of a man that was sorry his opponents could not poll their full strength? Compulsory voting, again argues its opponent, is tyranny; it forces a person to do something which he has a democratic right to abstain from doing; it compels him to choose between Mr. X and Mr. Y when in truth he is satisfied that one is as unworthy of confidence as the other is.

In those countries where voting is compulsory they do not seem to have made a great success of the election business; and even where voting is optional the big poll often produces as poor a team of legislators as the small poll. Compulsory school attendance can pave the way for better education, but there is no reason to think that compulsory voting will make better citizens or better judges of policies and of men.

The Poles

POLAR EXPLORATION IS SOMETHING more than an outlet for adventurous spirits. Were the Arctic and the Antarctic to yield up their deep secrets, great would be the effect on our everyday lives. The meteorological conditions of the polar regions influence those of other latitudes. More exact study of Arctic conditions will give us better weather forecasts. The earth's magnetic poles are situated in the polar zones, and navigators by sea and air have still much to learn about the vagaries of the compass.

Under the everlasting snow and ice live vast quantities of coal, iron, and other minerals. There is the home of many of the furred animals, and in the seas along the fringe are carried on the whaling and sealing industries. It is not impossible that technical advance will make available for general shipping the Northwest Passage and the North Siberian sea route, at present closed by ice for the greater part of the year. The possibilities of air routes across the flattened poles are so attractive that considerable investigation in this direction has already been made. To continue and extend Arctic exploration, Norway is arranging the first International Exhibition of Polar Exploration to be held next year. Twelve or 14 countries are expected to participate.

Our Hope Is Strengthened

NOW COMES THE WINNIPEG TRIBUNE to encourage us not to give up all good weather hope this summer. It has been looking up statistics and finds there is not much in this St. Swithin's business. At the most, it could hold only for England where it originated and could not be expected to apply to us 5,000 miles away in Canada, where we have plenty of our own weather legends. Anyway, even in England it has not been infallible. A wet St. Swithin's Day there, the meteorological reports prove, has never been followed by 40 days of unmitigated rain. As a matter of fact it was once found by observation on the average a greater number of rainy days followed a dry St. Swithin's Day than a wet one. Though the weather here may not have definitely turned yet, it is at least a relief to know that in the light of cold statistics even a wet St. Swithin's does not always hold water.

Business Before Ideology

REPORTS THE NEW YORK TIMES BY cable: "The German-Russian trade negotiations conducted intermittently since February, which involve a new German trade credit to Russia of several hundred million marks, have now progressed sufficiently for the German government to begin the organization of a trade delegation that is scheduled to leave for Moscow within 10 days."

Apparently the Germans don't hate Bolshevism so much that they won't help build its economic foundation by shipping German goods on credit. And apparently the Russians don't hate Hitler so much that they will join the world boycott of German goods.

We had been led to think, probably by hope, that it was all quite the opposite.

Hitler's new airplane has a conference room in it. Here, undoubtedly, der Fuehrer will often get Europe up in the air.

A geographer back from Brazil describes a forest-tribe that eats ants. But isn't it provoking when a picnic cake gets into them?

Tired of wondering "What's Hitler going to do," or Japan or Mr. Chamberlain, business on this continent apparently has decided to go ahead on its own for a change.

A heat wave in the east set off a department store fire sprinkling device just as customers were complaining about the heat. Well, they can't complain about the service.

A 100-year-old man has been attending a Townsend convention calling for $200 a month for everybody over 60. If that fellow intends to wait for the pension, he may beat Methuselah.

The shortest possible space of time, the Financial News has discovered, is that between the time when the red light changes to green and the man in the car behind gets his hand on the horn button.

Men are picketing a California plant. Wives are picketing the pickets, demanding that they return to work. All that is needed now is for children to picket the mothers, demanding that they come home and cook dinner again.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, in a note on the late Sir George McLaren Brown of the C.P.R., recalls that one memorial to him is a bit of scenic landscape in the Rocky Mountains. It was Sir George who thought of planting the poppies on the shore of Lake Louise fronting the hotel. The correspondent adds, "Every visitor there must remember how the red and yellow flowers make a splendid foreground for a vista of mountain and glacier."

The "New" Democracy

From Financial Post

Mr. Herridge speaks in words of inspired nonsense. His phrases glitter and gleam but when examined carefully are empty of meaning. Listen to him:

"The truth is what we want, and action to defend it."

"Patriotism becomes a full-time job."

"We must put away all the signs and symbols of immaturity, and boldly play the part which comes to us to play."

"Bedlam is never far away" (possibly a boomerang).

"We are as flotsam and jetsam in the stream."

"Revolt against the status quo."

"Put Democracy on an operating basis."

"Victory lies in union. Reaction knows that and struggles to divide us."

So far as one can gather, Mr. Herridge wants to:

1. Give the Canadian people security.

2. Establish the principles of democracy.

3. Give labor fair play.

4. Change the monetary system.

5. Aid exports.

6. Fix minimum prices and wages.

And so on. Perhaps the best clue to what Mr. Herridge really wants to do is given by his union with Premier Aberhart and Social Credit. If, indeed, Social Credit is one whit more understandable than New Democracy,

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

NOT ENOUGH

ONE OF THE key facts that we always forget in pondering the current ills of the world is that it won't do to get back to the good old days of 1929. If we had business back to 1929 we should still have a huge volume of unemployment, for the reason that population has increased since that time, but more because machinery has grown more efficient.

The government of the United States has just issued the results of a recent detailed survey of American industry and warns the nation that any expected increase in business will not cut down unemployment at all and only a marked decrease in the work week or a great increase in production could assure continuation of manufacturing employment at the present level or return it to the level of 1929.

The reason is that machinery is putting men out of work faster than industry can put them in it.

That sentence, of course, will not be read by most Americans and will be quite lost to the politicians. They don't want to face the fact that a return to the old predepression condition won't save us. That is, assuming a return were possible, which it isn't.

PROUD MOMENT

THE LITTLE BOY from next door was over here just now, swaggering with that superiority which grown-up people always affect after they have had an operation. There is no one with a greater conceit than the man who has had his tonsils removed. He feels he is a hero. He wants to talk learnedly about local and general anaesthetics, about surgeons' tools, infections, and blood. Most of all about blood. He wants to brag about how bad his tonsils were, as if having bad tonsils were a mark of learning, wisdom and distinction.

The little boy from next door said he understood his tonsils were very bad; worse even than his friend Jim's, and you know how bad Jim's were. He said there was no doubt he would have died shortly if they hadn't got his tonsils out in the nick of time. And he said with great pride that he had never seen so much blood in his life. He said it was too bad I had missed it.

I said I was sorry indeed to have missed it. Well, he said, one can't have everything. But he offered to let me look down his throat and see what a fine job the doctor had made of it, a very workmanlike job, he thought. And he hinted delicately that one look ought to be good for a piece of candy. I paid the fee willingly to get rid of him and when last seen he was going over to Mrs. Dobbs' house. She loves operations, Mrs. Dobbs does. She and the little boy from next door have something in common since she had her gall bladder out. Also, she has a fine line of date cookies.

IT SPREADS

ACCORDING TO THE reliable New York Times, England has gone in strongly for American slang. You might almost say that the average Londoner has learned to speak American, just as the average American is beginning to speak English a little now and then, thanks to the English actors in Hollywood.

Mr. Chamberlain, for example, has called himself a "go-getter for peace," a phrase which might be designed subtly to appeal to the Foreign Relations Committee of the U.S. Senate. The British Foreign Office recently appropriated an American word in calling the Palestine terrorists "gangsters" and their business a "racket." The Manchester Guardian, most erudite of all British dailies, ends up an editorial with: "So what?" And the pontifical Times says the Japanese in China "are getting away with murder."

The New York Times is optimistic, and thinks that understanding between Britain and the United States is growing all the time, but it admits that few Englishmen can yet be said to speak American fluently. But quite a few Americans, particularly the President, can speak English already.

Anyway, American is bound to catch on. Not only American language but American civilization generally. It is American civilization which is spreading all over the world now as it was English civilization which spread over it during the years of Empire building. You find it not only in the green country lanes of England, where you will come across a picture of Mr. Clark Gable on a fence post, but also in the inner depths of Europe, where some swarthy young guide will stop explaining the beauties of St. Mark's Square to sympathize with you because Miss Harlow died.

American civilization is sweeping the world because it is a machine civilization, of mass production invented in Detroit. The Americans mastered this curious technique, which lies at the bottom of all our economic troubles of today, and at the bottom of our economic deliverance tomorrow. The other nations are adopting the technique and, inevitably, the kind of life that is built on it. The most remarkable of the new machines, of course, is the movie camera, which carries the American idea to the four corners of the earth, but the other machines are progressing just as steadily, though a little more slowly. Within a century or two at the present rate, now that the flying machines are going everywhere, the whole world will be an imitation of Fifth Avenue at Forty-second. You will be dead by that time. This is just your good luck.

Murder Magnified

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

WHERE THIS generation is unlucky, as compared with those of bygone times, is in what might be called mass production of social evils. Mass production has made available to everyone who can read a vast store of knowledge. There is included in the modern encyclopaedia a store of knowledge absolutely beyond price as compared with that available in earlier centuries. King Solomon in all his glory was an utter ignoramus in factual knowledge, as distinguished from wisdom, and as compared with modern man, who is the heir of all the ages in the matter of accumulated recorded facts.

Mass production methods also can make the motor cars roll off the production lines at Detroit with dizzy speed. But mass production can also turn out Bren guns, Mills bombs, poison gas and a thousand different devices for killing men in masses. With the advent of the airplane, with bombs, poison gas and incendiary missiles, the process of mass killing has been potentially extended also to the millions of women and children.

From the standpoint of morals it may be no worse to wage war now than it was in ages past. But this much is clear. Those responsible for leading nations to war today plunge their people into carnage undreamed of in more primitive times.

A western bad man with a six-shooter could do a certain amount of damage in the world. But a man with a machine gun is a possible killer of thousands. A dictator with a little army, such as that with which William the Conqueror took England, has the power of life or death over so many hundred human souls. But a Hitler or a Mussolini holds in his hands the destinies of millions.

That is what is back of the argument when wise men say, as one recently did, that "the machine has man backed into a corner where man must either practice the principle of the Sermon on the Mount or perish."

What can be done about it? There is only one answer, and that is that these peoples themselves must either compel their existing governments to do as they wish, or they must find new instruments of government that will respond to their peaceful ideals and cease these policies of pressure and force and threat which are not only terrifying the whole world, but are making impossible any return to prosperity and happiness until these heavy clouds are removed.

Think what must be the feeling of the mothers of the world as they look out on this scene. Many of them remember only too well what happened to their husbands and their sons 25 years ago. How many of them can face with equanimity what might, within 24 hours, begin to happen to the husbands and sons of today?

What is the use of trade, what is the use of industry, what is the use of commerce, what is the use of effort, what is the use of trying to gain some return from all these in order to make mankind more comfortable, more fortunate and better protected in old age and adversity? What is the use of it all? We are pouring out not only the world's earnings, but the world's saving, savings for a thousand years, and those savings are not illimitable. There comes a time when they will be gone, and what will the world do then unless it desists from this policy of threats and this rule of force and terror? What will happen?

THE SENSE OF INNOCENCE
From the New Statesman and Nation (London)

It is doubtful whether Hitler would retain power for a month if he failed to keep alive the sense of innocence in Germany. Innocent in 1914, she is still innocent in 1939; and, of all Germans, he himself is the most innocent. No Black-and-Tan was ever more innocent than he. "I am a man of peace," he proclaims, "a man of peace with more bombing planes than any war-monger in Europe."

The worst thing he can think of calling anybody after "a Jew" is a war-monger. And he calls everybody who builds airplanes except his friends a war-monger. He proudly points to the fact that he has never once made war since he came into power as proof of his innocence. He is as innocent, indeed, as a burglar who gets what he wants by producing a revolver and calling "hands up" to an unarmed householder. The burglar, no doubt, in such circumstances, would like to convince himself that the householder had handed over the family jewels to him voluntarily.

Was there a reason for it, or was it a pure oversight? I sometimes wonder whether the people would tolerate unemployment and privation so placidly and plausibly if they realized that they are living in a tremendously rich world, where poverty is an utter absurdity, where all could enjoy security and comfort, without anyone being "soaked."

Why should we not have in every school history book in this province a few of the simple, outstanding economic facts, which are familiar to economists, such as the following? Plenty more are given in books on technocracy or in Stuart Chase's "Men and Machines."

The engines to do work, in the United States alone, have a capacity of a billion horsepower. If operated at full capacity they could do 50 times as much as all the adult workers on the whole earth could accomplish by human labor alone. In such an exuberantly rich world, penury and privation can only be described as ridiculous.

WHEN YOU WANT SOMETHING FROM AN EDITOR
From Linotype News

When you want to get something from an editor, the easiest and best way to get it is to give something to the editor. Mark Sullivan achieved success as a young reporter and magazine writer because his way was not to ask an editor for anything, but to present him with something.

"My way," he writes in his autobiography, "was to study a paper until I knew what the editor wanted as well as he knew himself; then to suggest a topic that was within the editor's general field, but new; one that would not occur to the editor, but which would interest him when brought to his attention."

That formula may be useful to some of you young fellows who are trying to get ahead.

Veterans Protest Tientsin Insults

Army and Navy
Command Urges
Canada Take Notice

Strong protest against the treatment accorded British subjects at Tientsin by Japanese was voiced in a resolution passed at the quarterly meeting of the B.C. provincial command, Army and Navy Veterans in Canada in Vancouver Saturday.

The resolution included an appeal to the Canadian government to support and assist Britain in taking a strong stand for the protection of British subjects.

In another resolution the national veterans' council was asked to consider the striking of a medal to commemorate the visit of the King and Queen to Canada.

Rev. Glen Stevenson of Alberni, provincial chaplain, submitted a motion urging the Dominion Government to give preference to war veterans on defence works. It was carried, with the explanation that closing down of summer forestry camps has thrown a number of veterans out without subsistence.

A resolution sponsored by T. G. Simmons, Vancouver, was endorsed. It protested against the employment of men at race tracks during their annual vacations. Men who were unemployed should be given these jobs, it stated.

The provincial government will be asked to amend its superannuation act to include the war period served by veterans in their superannuation time, the same as the Dominion Government.

Delegates from Victoria, South Vancouver, New Westminster, East Vancouver, North Vancouver, Ladysmith, Central Park, Marpole and Mission attended the meeting at which Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown presided.

At a dinner in the evening delegates were the guests of Vancouver Unit No. 20, Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence, was guest of honor and in an address said Canada must be able to defend herself against enemies regardless of her neighbors' assistance. He appealed to veterans to encourage young men to join the militia.

Esquimalt Tax Collection Up

Half-yearly Statement
Best for Many Years,
Says Councillor

"The best statement we have had for years," Councillor Thomas Hadfield commented at last night's meeting of the Esquimalt Council after the half-yearly tax collection report had been presented.

The statement showed only $3,990 still to be received in current taxes to bring the collection up to the estimate for the whole year as well as an exceptionally heavy influx of arrears and delinquent taxes.

The general rate collection was 1.3 per cent ahead of the figure at the mid-year in 1938, with $62,088 collected out of an estimated $66,078.

Collections of arrears and delinquent taxes at June 30 totaled $8,744, compared with $6,424 at the same date last year.

The council tabled without comment a satisfactory half-yearly financial statement showing $53,612 still in hand after expenditures totaling $90,383.

Two resolutions forwarded by the Saanich Council—one to be sent to Premier Pattullo deploring the incorporation in British Columbia of companies exporting raw war materials whose shareholders were nationals of aggressor nations but which appeared as Canadian in their incorporation papers because the majority of their stock was held by Canadian nominees, the other to Prime Minister King calling for an embargo on exports of scrap metal, ore, lumber and other war material to aggressor nations—were tabled for further study at a full meeting of the council. Councillors Albert Heald and R. G. Humphreys were absent last night.

Vancouver Labor Election

VANCOUVER (CP)—Edward A. Jamieson, business manager of the Musicians' Union, Local 145, was elected president for a third term of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council last night.

He received 136 votes as compared with 66 cast for Alex Fordyce of the Bricklayers' Union, immediate past vice-president of the council.

Percy R. Bengough, secretary of the council since 1921, was re-elected unanimously.

Fishing Methods In Straits Probed

Tides and Fogs
Affect Gill-netters
In Fast Waters

The difficulties of fishing in the Straits of Juan de Fuca other than by traps formed the main theme of questioning by A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., counsel for J. H. Todd & Sons, when he cross-examined Major J. A. Motherwell, chief fishery supervisor, at the salmon trap inquiry before Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan yesterday afternoon.

Major Motherwell said that although there was no prohibition on the use of any gear in the waters off Sooke, last year was the first that he recalled in 24 years' experience that gill-netters had operated there.

Examined by Mr. Macfarlane as to why this was so, Major Motherwell said the rapid tides in the straits might tie the nets in knots and interfere with their efficiency. Boats would be harder to control in the strong waters.

"And there are often dense fogs there that would make it dangerous for gill-netters, who operate at night, to fish in these waters, which are a big ship channel?" asked Mr. Macfarlane.

Major Motherwell agreed this might be the case.

The inquiry adjourned until Thursday, there being no sitting today because most of the Sooke people concerned in the inquiry are attending the All-Sooke celebrations.

HEARING IN VANCOUVER

A. V. Hill, representing several fishermen's unions, obtained from Commissioner Sloan a promise to hear their evidence in Vancouver on August 21. The fishermen had suggested a delay in the investigation, but the commissioner explained he would like to finish the inquiry during the court vacation and proposed the hearing in Vancouver.

Mr. Macfarlane questioned Major Motherwell as to the feeding habits of salmon coming up the straits. The supervisor said that while they feed off the Swiftsure banks, once they start for the spawning ground they stop eating.

"Is it customary for them to school in the straits, then?" asked Mr. Macfarlane. "They school when they are feeding, don't they, and purse seiners need schools for their work?"

Major Motherwell said the fish did not necessarily school when feeding, but when they were nearing their spawning stream. Fisheries officers, he said, had reported schools off the West Coast heading toward the straits, but not actually in the straits.

"Then you wouldn't consider the Straits satisfactory for purse seining?" asked counsel.

"I could hardly answer that," replied Major Motherwell, and Commissioner Sloan agreed that such a point was for the commission to decide.

Major Motherwell told how canned salmon are classified into three grades: first, those that are granted a certificate by the canned salmon inspection laboratory in Vancouver; second, the fish that are not quite up to that standard but are good to eat, and finally, those that are unfit for human consumption, which are confiscated. He undertook to produce figures showing the grade of salmon packed at the Empire Cannery which come from the Sooke traps.

Mr. Macfarlane asked the supervisor if it was true that U.S. seiners off Swiftsure took out as many salmon in a day sometimes as the Sooke traps in a season.

"I don't know that," replied Major Motherwell.

TREATY DISCUSSED

In discussing seining off the Swiftsure the new sockeye salmon treaty between Canada and the United States was brought up, and Major Motherwell said the extra-territorial waters would come under this conservation plan when regulation commences seven years hence.

It was brought out that up to July 8 this year B.C. canneries have packed 22,169 cases of bluebacks, or immature cohoes, which averaged about 20 fish to the case, or about 450,000 fish all told. The traps, evidence showed, had caught very few bluebacks.

John F. Tait, district fishery officer, was questioned regarding the habits of salmon coming up the straits past the traps. He said it was possible for the fish to go around the end of the traps.

Woman Safe After Three Days in Woods

READING, Pa. (AP)—Smoking her favorite pipe, 75-year-old Mrs. Emma Steffy tilted back in a rocking chair on the porch of her Bowmanville home today and related her experiences while lost for three days in the Welsh mountain wilderness.

She found her way home yesterday while farmers, woodsmen and a bloodhound of the state police, searched the mountain wilds. She left home early Sunday to pick huckleberries.

Refusing a doctor's orders to go to bed, Mrs. Steffy said she fell in a hole and hurt her head during her wanderings, but "I didn't become panicky."

"Jesus was with me," she murmured.

3,000 Attend Annual Garden Party At Government House This Afternoon

Once again the hospitable iron gates of Government House were thrown open wide this afternoon to thousands of Victorians and visitors from the mainland and United States points, when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber entertained at their annual garden party, in the manner that has won for them fame as British Columbia's most gracious host and hostess.

Even the weather co-operated today after some indecision, to make the affair as enjoyable and spectacular as in other years. The sun shone through fleecy white clouds as the first guests arrived. Despite the dull weather and frequent rains of recent weeks, the magnificent gardens were looking their best, for this, the outstanding and largest social event of the summer season.

MRS. HAMBER'S GOWN

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber received the apparently never-ending line of guests before the summer house, shaking hands with each one as the names were announced by an aide.

Mrs. Hamber was charmingly gowned in a lovely imported chiffon gown in a beautiful tapestry shade of rosy-beige. The bodice of her formal gown was of lace and fitted snugly to the hipline, from which flowed the full chiffon skirt. Fagotting of chiffon edged her elbow-length sleeves, which were accented by tiny puffs at the shoulder. With the ensemble, Mrs. Hamber wore accessories of a slightly deeper shade, her shoes and gloves making a subtle contrast, set off by her graceful picture hat of fine straw. Tiny multicolored flowers in beige, blue and pink shades, were tucked around the shallow crown of the hat. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls.

Assisting Mrs. Hamber was Mrs. Mae Rice, who was becomingly gowned in a long Mediterranean blue chiffon frock, with fine shirring adding a novel decolletage at the shoulders and sleeve line. The elbow-length of her tailored bodice were puffed at the shoulder. Shirring marked the waistline at the back, the skirt falling gracefully to the ground. Mrs. Rice complemented her costume with a Leghorn picture hat of natural straw, trimmed with vari-colored strands of ribbon twisted about the crown. Her only ornament was a rope of pearls.

IN RECEIVING LINE

Assisting His Honor and the chataleine as aides were Brig. Sutherland Brown, Lieut.-Col. W.

M. Turner, Colonel Vincent McKenna, Colonel I. R. Kingham, Lieut.-Col. Hugh Allan, Capt. R. L. Mitchell, Capt. N. Van der Vliet, Capt. Hobart Molson, Mr. Hew Paterson and a number of Vancouver aides.

a flowering strawberry called potentilla, might have been invisible to the ordinary visitor among the hundreds of rockery plants.

But the Queen Mother said: "I remember my husband admired that flower. I think it was at Derby. I am so glad to see it again."

It is six years since King George V, walking through the Derby Royal Show with Queen Mary, admired the potentilla.

The meeting of the Junior Mission Circle of the Emmanuel Baptist Church was held recently at the summer home of Miss Lilian Parfitt, Mount Douglas.

Preceding the meeting a picnic supper was served around the campfire. Miss Opal Abercrombie was the speaker for the evening, her topic being "The Ministry of Healing in India" taken from the study book "Moving Millions." Miss Crystal Lorbeer closed the meeting with an inspirational devotional on "Developing Our Prayer Life." A pleasing feature took place when Miss Evelyn Rhodes on behalf of the circle presented a pair of hand-colored souvenir pictures of Victoria views to Miss Crystal Lorbeer and Miss Margaret Lorbeer who will leave this week with their mother to assist in the Mission Hospital at Ceepeece near Zee.

Mr. and Mrs. David Young Russel, who were married in the vestry of first United Church Saturday evening. Mrs. Russel was formerly Miss Bessie Williamson.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Singer of Kansas City, Missouri, are spending a few days in Victoria, guests at the Empress Hotel, and are being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McMillan, Pemberton Road. Mrs. Singer and Mrs. McMillan were school mates in Missouri.

Arriving from Pendleton, Oregon, for their annual visit, Bishop and Mrs. W. P. Remington have taken up residence at the Harrogate Apartments, Beach Drive, until the end of the month. During August they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Semmes, "Robinwood," Uplands.

Accompanied by Mr. Reed Page Clark, United States consul in Victoria, Mr. Paul Josselyn, the newly-appointed United States consul-general in Vancouver, paid an official call on His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor at Government House yesterday morning.

Miss Jean Lennox, Rockland Avenue, entertained at lunch today at her home in honor of the two brides-to-be, Miss Phyllis Pooley and Miss Elizabeth Stewart, and their bridesmaids, after which the guests attended the garden party at Government House.

In honor of the Misses Gertrude and Mia Ladenburg, who are visitors to Victoria from Switzerland, and are staying with their parents at the Beach Hotel, Miss Patricia Cole was hostess at the tea hour in the hotel lounge yesterday afternoon. The invited guests were: Misses Priscilla Wright, Rene Watson, Margot and Kathleen Greer, Joan Fel-lows, Connie and Mary Stephens, Roseanna Gillespie, Cicely Holmes, Ann Barty, Helen Woodcroft, Jill Scott, Joan Austen-Leigh, Sheila McCabe, Adine Oland, Jane Holland, Elizabeth Martin, Ann Critchley, Honor Benson, Betty McMurray, Nan Howitt (Montreal), Cynthia Yarrow, Peggy Angus, Helen Baird, Betty Burns, Patsy Watson, Audrey Eberts, Vera Kennedy Smith, Gloria Wilson, Jean May-hew and Barbara Muttelbury.

Royal Family at London Wedding

LONDON (CP)—Several members of the Royal family today attended the marriage of Viscount Cowdray and Lady Anne Rodgeman, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Bradford, in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster. A large crowd of onlookers gathered at the church in spite of rain. Among those who attended were the Duchess of Gloucester, Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood, and the Earl of Athlone. The bridegroom is a noted polo player.

Florence Nightingale was not able to overcome family opposition to start her nursing career until she was 34.

LONDON (AP)—The Air Ministry has laid the foundation for an extensive scheme to substitute women in the air force for all but fighting duties in case of an emergency.

Under a plan announced by the air secretary, Sir Kingsley Wood, and approved by the King, the women will be organized into an air force auxiliary, designed to relieve the air force proper of all the lighter duties and thus release more manpower for front line duty.

The new service, which incorporates the 3,360 women in the air force section of the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service, will train officers and noncommissioned officers required to administer an expanded service to be recruited in wartime.

For a time the women will exist only as "cook and bottle washer" units; then they will take over various camp duties similar to those performed in the home by the housewife or in a business office by a secretary.

The next step in this training will embrace more or less full courses in handling various types of planes. In emergencies they probably would be required to fulfill such duties as ferrying planes from factories to flying fields, eliminating the necessity of using war pilots for this purpose.

Women M.P.'s Get No Favors

Must Have Ability To Retain Positions In British Politics

By DILYS THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—Twenty years ago, Plymouth, seaport made famous by Sir Francis Drake in Elizabethan days, made history again when it elected Lady Astor as member of the House of Commons.

Lady Astor, a Conservative, elected to the Sutton Division of Plymouth in 1919, was the first woman member to sit in the House. She still holds her seat today.

Since 1919, Lady Astor has seen many women members come and go but never more than 15 in one Parliament. In the 1931 elections, 15 women were returned. Today there are only a dozen in a total of 615 members.

Women do not rush to enter Parliament, and local associations don't go out of their way to select them. The test is brains and service, endurance and adaptability in the rough and tumble of politics.

Women get no favors in the House, but occasionally they set precedents. Miss Edith Plecton-Turberville, who was Labor member for the Wrekin Division of Shropshire from 1929 to 1931, one day produced a fan in the House and started to fan herself. Sir Nicholas Gratton-Doyle, Conservative member for Newcastle North, gravely asked Mr. Speaker whether, since men were no longer permitted to carry swords, a woman member was in order using a fan. The Speaker solemnly replied: "A sword is a weapon of offence, a fan is not."

CONCEDED A MIRROR

More recently, Dr. Edith Summerskill, Labor member for West Fulham, asked for and got a mirror in the members' cloakroom so that women members could see to tidy their hair and put their hats on straight.

Tall, slim, auburn-haired Dr. Summerskill carried herself like a guardsman and at times has a tongue like a rapier in the House. She once recommended that Sir Herbert Williams try voluntary euthanasia, and then added: "Now go out and look up what it is."

Women's Hats Attacked By Nazi Party

BERLIN (AP)—Das Schwarze Korps, organ of the Nazi Elite Blackshirt Guards, poured scorn today on women's styles, especially in hats, as a wasteful "foreign swindle."

With an apology for invading the field of feminine fashion magazines, Das Schwarze Korps declared:

"German women should learn that one puts a dress aside when it is worn out or no longer is suited to her age—not when it becomes 'out of fashion.'"

Das Schwarze Korps sees in constantly changing fashion creations an "irresponsible waste of material" at the expense of national economy.

Modern Etiquette

1. Should a hostess be concerned only with making her guests have a good time, and not with impressing them?
2. Does a good hostess do as much as possible toward preparing the food before the guests arrive?
3. Would it be better to have small servings of an expensive food, or plenty of an inexpensive kind at an informal party?
4. Should a hostess take less pains preparing for friends than she does for acquaintances?

5. Does a good hostess remember to inquire about her guests' pet interests?

What would you do if—
You and your husband have just been entertained by new friends and wish to return their hospitality and continue the friendship. Would you—
(a) Try to entertain much more elaborately than your new friends did?
(b) Give exactly the same type entertainment as your friends gave you?
(c) Entertain them a bit differently, but observe about the same degree of formality?

BREAKFAST IS FUN

with SNAP! CRACKLE! POP!

Thousands are switching to Kellogg's RICE KRISPIES for crispness!

A Man-sized Meal for me, thinks Freddie B. There's never been any trouble with HIS breakfast because he started in with the snap-crackle-pop of Krispies. He knows his breakfast ought to sing!

Happy Families is Mrs. E.'s favourite game, and she knows Kellogg's Rice Krispies make the whole family happy. "All the children love these crisp, golden bubbles," she says, "and they're good for them too."

Never a Murrer except from the Krispies! Sally B. just loves breakfast now that she hears it as well as tastes it. And to think she used to be a difficult child—needed coaxing to eat—before she met snap-crackle-pop.

They'll Be a Crackling Success in Your Home, Too

Such a snap-crackle-popping all over Canada at breakfast time, as family after family pours the cream on the Krispies! And up bob these nourishing, honey-coloured bubbles snapping away... floating on the cream... crisp and delicious to the last.

So get the breakfast it's fun to eat. Kellogg's Rice Krispies come always oven-fresh in the exclusive waxette package. Your grocer has them! Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

CAMERA FIENDS
We pay real money for candid shots of Krispie fans. Get an amusing shot of father, mother, brother, sister, son, daughter, uncle, aunt-enjoying Rice Krispies. $10 for every picture used. Negative returned. Write Dept. RKP, Kellogg's, London, Canada.

ROYAL ROUTINE—There are no long train journeys these days for Their Majesties since their visit to Canada and the United States is a thing of memory now, but there's Australia to look forward to, since that Dominion has invited them to pay it a Royal Visit. Meanwhile it's more restful if less exciting to resume the round of appearances at home. The King and Queen are the same gracious persons Canada knew and came to love for themselves as they visit the Royal Agricultural Society's show in Windsor Great Park—one of England's Royal Parks. They are seen as they enter the show in the Royal carriage, the Queen enchanting in a lace dress and lace-trimmed hat, with white gloves, a bangle and pearls, and the King wearing a dark suit and tie with pearl-grey top hat.

Again, they inspect the exhibit of pit ponies, one of which nuzzles the King's hand, while mine-helmeted pit boys stand near. Queen Mary, too, does her share of Royal visiting. She is pleased and a little amused by the very low bow she receives from a little donor of a purse for charity at a garden party in St. James Palace.

BATHING BEAUTY—(Yes, that's right—a bathing beauty!) Nowadays it takes more than a figure and a bathing suit to win a beauty contest, judging by the Victorian demureness displayed by Doris Gelsinger, Quaker school teacher who won out as "Miss Atlantic City." She will be hostess to contestants for the title of "Miss America, 1939."

$7,500 IN RADIUM—Five capsules of radium, worth $7,500, were stolen with a cash box last week from the Standard Medical and Surgical clinic at Peterboro, Ont. On July 17 they were found by Dr. L. B. Leppard, physicist of the Ontario Department of Health, seen here, left, with Bert Delaney and H. Fozard, right, representatives of the company with which the radium was insured for $3,100. Two men cutting weeds by the side of the road found the rifled cash box, phoned police, who phoned Dr. Leppard. With the aid of the Geiger-Mueller counter, a radium-finder shown here in use, he found the capsules—four on the Cavan township, one on the Monaghan township, side of the road.

BRITAIN'S LADY TERRIERS—A soldier's life seems to be a happy one for these members of Britain's Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service, who are shown playing a game of cards in front of their tents at the Cowshott encampment, Cowshott, Eng. Almost every woman in England now belongs to some organization designed to aid their menfolk in time of war.

NO HURRY IN ARCTIC—The world of tomorrow may—despite sceptics—be on display in New York's Flushing Meadow, but the land of tomorrow is definitely within the Arctic Circle, according to Franz Johnston, famous bearded Toronto painter. Just back from a long sojourn well within the circle, he says that everyone up there puts things off till tomorrow, to about the same extent as tropic dwellers do. "What's the hurry? It won't be dark for six months," they say, and forget about it for a week or two. Johnston is seen here with a vivid painting from his brush—"Objections."

TRANS-CANADA HIKERS—Seldom getting three meals a day, but living on what they can pick up as they go along, this hitch-hiking family tramped through Orillia on their long journey from Vancouver to Halifax. They hope to be in Halifax before the snow flies. The family of trans-Canada hitch-hikers is headed by Mrs. Maurice Brien, who is lame and uses crutches. She is accompanied by her husband, their two children and Brien's cousin. The happy-go-lucky travelers, left to right, Andrew Picore, Mr. and Mrs. Brien and their two children, Benny and Edith, in front, hope to get work in a garment factory when they reach Halifax.

SHORT MAIL SERVICE—Finish of world's shortest air mail route—six-mile flight from roof of Philadelphia post office to airport at Camden, N.J. Helpers take mail sacks from autogiro, piloted by Capt. John Miller in first flight of regular service designed to speed delivery. Five daily round trips by air are expected to require but 10 minutes each—35 minutes faster than round trip by truck.

QUEBEC BANS DOG CARTS—Quebec farmers will have to do a lot of extra driving now, since a law has been passed banning the use of dog carts on highways. Dog carts, such as the one pictured here, have been a boon to busy farmers because, when they needed something in town, or wanted to borrow a plough point from a distant neighbor, they could go on with their own work while one of the youngsters hitched up the dog and enjoyed a drive over to do the errand. This photo points the contrast between these picturesque relics of a passing age and the automobile.

By PETE SALLAWAY

A 12-YEAR-OLD plater, the biggest winning of which never totaled more than $2,500, the idol of Pacific coast racers.

He receives more fan mail than a movie star.

He won't run under two miles and at that distance usually trails until the last half mile, before coming on to win in a garrison finish.

He has been interviewed before a packed radio auditorium to the strains of a 50-piece orchestra.

He didn't win a race until he was four . . . didn't really get going until he was nine . . .

A full-length motion picture is to be made of his triumphs.

He drew more applause in an exhibition parade than such greats as Seabiscuit and Stagehand.

The old warrior is Malicious.

Mrs. Sylvia Urban of Pasadena announced she was going to retire Malicious. This brought a deluge of fan mail, offering steam-heated stables and luscious pasture, a farm in Oregon, a stall in a back yard . . . anything if the writer only could have the privilege of caring for the thoroughbred.

Officials of Tanforan and Bay Meadows, where an oil painting of Malicious recently graced the clubhouse, asked that fans be given a last chance to see the horse run.

At Santa Anita, Malicious caused a crowd of 60,000 to go into a frenzy as he flashed to victory in a Frank Merriwell finish.

It was at Santa Anita a few weeks later that he made his final official bow to his fans. Track officials, with an eye to attendance, made the affair one of elaborate ceremony.

But the horse will run again. He'll probably be shipped to England this fall to appear next spring in three to four-mile flat races.

What is the secret of this sentimental attachment? It doesn't lie in Malicious' records. His best time for two miles is 3:27.25, which is some 10 seconds slower than the world record.

He was foaled in 1927, on Le Mar Farms in Kentucky, by Omar Khayyam out of Ridicule II.

As a two-year-old he was shipped to California with other cubs.

George Mayberry, a northern California horseman, had to wait two years before his faith was sustained. In 1931, Malicious won three races, and went on to bag seven the following year.

He set a track record at Tanforan for two miles against young and favored competition.

Then he turned cranky. He went periodically lame, cut up at the barrier, developed rheumatism. And in 1934 Mayberry sold him for $40 to Lonnie Copenhaver, a practical horseman of Pendleton, Ore., who has a reputation of having worked miracles with cheap, broken-down horses.

Copenhaver took the horse to the northwest and turned him loose in a pasture for several months, and then entered him in a two-mile event at Longacres in Seattle.

It was Malicious' first race at this distance, and he won by four lengths. He repeated a few weeks later at this distance in Vancouver. Then he was claimed.

A succession of owners followed, none of whom knew how to handle the horse.

Malicious broke down, and Copenhaver was able to get him back. This time for $200. Put through the same course of conditioning, Malicious came back and won three in a row at two miles at Bay Meadows. Again he was claimed, and again he lapsed into the has-been class.

He didn't return to form until he was claimed by the Urban Stables, and then only because Mrs. Urban placed him under Copenhaver's care. Malicious won four straight at two miles at Bay Meadows and Santa Anita.

Spectacular finishes made him (Turn to Page 11, Col. 6)

Victoria Marksman in Brilliant Form to Win Feature B.C.R.A. Match

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Private Edward Nicholson of Victoria's Princess Pats stole the spotlight yesterday as the British Columbia Rifle Association's 61st annual prize meeting got under way at Blair Range.

The youthful sharpshooter compiled 104 out of a possible 105 to win the British Consols match, No. 1 feature event of the opening day's shoot.

Private Nicholson, runner-up in the grand aggregate in last year's B.C.R.A. meet, just managed to edge out another young shot, Sgt. Paul M. Gibault of the British Columbia Regiment, Vancouver, who had a perfect score up to the final range, where he dropped two points and wound up a scant point behind with 103.

The match, fired over three ranges of 500, 600 and 200 yards, was shot under dull skies but in a sharp light which failed to diminish although a heavy rain fell during shooting at the final range of 200 yards.

Nicholson ran in 20 bulls and an inner out of 21 shots. He opened with a possible 35 at 500 yards, and ran his consecutive string of bull's-eyes to an even dozen before he slipped to an inner on his sixth shot at 600 yards. Undeterred he calmly sniped another possible at the concluding 200-yard range, blasting in eight consecutive perfect shots.

Gibault started out with a pair of possibilities at 500 and 600 yards but with a one-point margin over his nearest rival, he faltered with a 33 at 200 yards.

Bracketed at 102 were Bandsman F. Drysdale, Victoria, Canadian Scott; Sgt. Jack Regan, Esquimalt Garrison; W. W. Ryan, Vernon Rifle Association; two Irish Fusiliers (Vancouver Regiment) shots, Fusilier Ian Grant and Bandsman W. R. Chandler, and Bombardier C. Rasmussen of Esquimalt Garrison Rifle Association.

Four marksmen tied for the lead at the first range of the Westminster Corporation match, which opened the meet in the morning, but it was a woman, Mrs. Gwen Spencer Hethley of the Canadian Scottish Rifle Association, who broke the ice and turned in the first of four possibilities recorded over 200 yards.

Mrs. Hethley, one of the first to shoot, rapped in seven straight bull's-eyes before the meet had held its title as another range of 500 yards has still to be shot over today before the competition is completed.

Sergeant A. E. Ashe, 1938 grand aggregate champion, was virtually out of the running with a 31.

Private Nicholson, defending champion, was far back with a 33, but he will have a change to hold his title as another range of 500 yards has still to be shot over today before the competition is completed.

Sergeant A. E. Ashe, 1938 grand aggregate champion, was virtually out of the running with a 31.

Highland Games Here July 29

Entries for Dancing, Piping Competitions Received From Prairies

The second annual Highland gathering to be held at Macdonald Park on July 29, under the auspices of the Victoria Highland Games Association, is attracting entries in its dancing and piping divisions from as far as the prairies, officials announced today.

In the dancing section of the games there will be seven different age limits—novice, under 11 years; under nine years; under 11 years; under 13 years; under 15 years; under 17 years and open for B.C. championships.

The open B.C. championship division will include the Highland Fling, sword dance, Seann Truibhas, Reel of Tulloch, Irish jig and Sailors' Hornpipe. The under 17 years section will include the same dances; the under 15 years, the same numbers not including the Irish jig; the under 13 years, the same as the under 15 years, not including the Reel of Tulloch; the under 11 years, the Highland Fling, sword dance, Seann Truibhas and Irish jig; the under nine years, the Highland Fling and sword dance, and the novice, Highland Fling.

The open dances for either amateur or professional dancers is being held for the first time.

The piping competitions will be for juniors under 16 years, amateurs and open competitors. The juniors will play marches, Strathspeys and reels; the amateurs, marches, Strathspeys, reels and old Highland airs; and the open division will include Piobaireachd, marches, Strathspeys and reels.

The Seattle pipe band has already entered and Vernon and the Vancouver Seaford Highlanders are expected to be competing.

Medals will be presented the first three in the dancing contests and four cash prizes in the open championships. The piping contest winners will receive silverware and cash prizes and the pipe bands will receive cash prizes.

In addition to the dancing and piping events there will be a varied program of track and field events which is also expected to attract entries from all parts of the province. A strong team from the Victoria Flying "Y" track and field team will compete.

Province's Junior Cricketers Turn Back Alberta in Interprovincial Tourney

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada's initial interprovincial junior cricket tournament today reaches the half way stage in the six-day meet with the two leading teams—Ontario and British Columbia—drawn against each other.

The draw brings together Alberta and Manitoba in the other match of the day.

Yesterday the Ontario eleven gave the greatest display of batting of the meet to date, scoring 309 runs in 3½ hours before being dismissed by Alberta's bowlers. But that huge total probably cost them a victory.

A slight rain started to fall just before the tea interval when Alberta went in to bat and scored 17 runs for three wickets before adjournment. The teams took the pitch again but the rain increased and after Alberta had scored an additional four runs play was halted and the match declared a draw.

British Columbia kept their record intact when they defeated Manitoba by 79 runs. The Manitobans, unable to get used to the slow grassy pitch after their fast asphalt home wickets, were all out for 59 at the luncheon interval.

The coast team went in and passed the Manitoba total with the loss of only two wickets and went on to complete their innings. They did not attempt to resume after the tea interval.

THREE HIGH SCORES

A trio stood out among Ontario's batsmen. D. Gallagher scored 77 not out when play stopped for lunch and continued on for two more. T. Parkins had 72 and J. Wilson 70 for the bulk of the eastern total. Others who aided substantially were Jimmy Rees, 27; A. Sargent, 24 and Lewis Gunn 19, all batting well.

Both Parkins and Wilson made 13 boundaries.

Brian Magee, star Ontario bowler, collected two of three Alberta wickets to fall, giving him a total of 12 tournament wickets for 65, an average of 4.6.

In the British Columbia-Manitoba match little Art Griffin won the admiration of the crowd with his brilliant fielding. Playing at point time after time he made running dives to save possible boundaries or fours and on one occasion leaped 15 feet to land on his shoulder for the stop.

The Manitobans found the combination of slow wicket and spin bowling of Basil Robinson and Bill Kellock too much. The two coast bowlers took 2 for 7 and 4 for 18 respectively.

O.C. Cricket

LONDON (CP)—Rain disrupted the English county cricket schedule during the past three days and only three of eight games produced definite results. Nottinghamshire smashed Middlesex by an innings and 190 runs. Essex won by 10 wickets from Surrey and Kent took Gloucestershire's measure by 98 runs in a match concluded Monday.

Northamptonshire took first-innings points from Sussex but the Yorkshire-Derbyshire, Glamorgan-Hampshire, Lancashire-Somerset and Leicestershire-Worcestershire contests were abandoned before each team had completed one innings and will not count in the championship table.

A two-day match between the Navy and the Air Force ended in a draw.

Art McLarney to Play With Tacoma

TACOMA (AP)—Signing of Art McLarney, former Washington State College athlete and now a Seattle high school coach, to play second base for the Tacoma club of the Western International League was announced today by Nelson R. Hong, vice-president of the team.

McLarney had a trial with the New York Giants after graduation from college and later played with the Seattle club in the Coast League. He also played with Vancouver Senior City League teams.

Richmond Wins Rugged Battle

Defeats Adanacs 14 to 13 In Mainland Boxla; Three Major Penalties

VANCOUVER (CP)—Richmond Farmers' chances of capturing a berth in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League playoffs this fall are pretty slight, but they can still make things tough for the other teams.

Last night they downed the speedy New Westminster Adanacs, western Canadian champs, 14 to 13 in a league fixture here to strengthen their hold on fourth place.

The win left the Royal City squad still in second place with 22 points, two points below the leading Vancouver Burrards. Richmond boosted their total to 12 points eight below the third place New Westminster Salmonbellies. North Shore Indians remain in the cellar with two points.

The champs will get another chance to tie up the standings, when they meet Salmonbellies in New Westminster, tomorrow.

Last night's game was one of the roughest contests played this season. Referees Harry Gilmore and Archie Stiles handed out penalties galore.

Jack Pugsley of Richmond drew the first major penalty on a misconduct call in the first period. Ken Matheson, Adanac forward, was sent off for five minutes in the second quarter and "Bo" Ackley another Richmond player got five minutes in the fourth quarter for slashing. There were 16 two-minute penalties ordered.

BOWLING RAINED OUT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Heavy rain late yesterday forced postponement of play in the open divisions of the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association's 17th annual tournament.

Because of the postponement there was no decision as to winners of the various sections.

Longden Sensational

CHICAGO (CP)—For the second straight day, Jockey Johnny Longden outshone anything the horses did at Arlington Park yesterday when he brought home four winners, placed second once and third once. The little rider, from Taber, Alta., had five winners Monday.

Mrs. Charles H. Cleary's Flying Lili was his most important winner, taking the six-furlong

Springfield purse in 1:12 4-5 over a muddy track. She paid $3.60 for $2.

Longden's four victories came in consecutive races, starting with Eight and Six in the fourth event, then Flying Lili, Threadneedle and Catmoor. He brought in Uprising to show in the second race and Rhet for second money in the third. He didn't have a mount in the last race.

International Baseball Here

Port Angeles Return Saturday for Series With Victoria All-stars

Saturday's sports program will include international baseball, with Port Angeles returning to the Athletic Park ball lot to seek revenge for the two beatings they received at the hands of Manager Fred McGinnis' Victoria All-Stars here on Dominion Day.

Games will be at 2:30 and 6. Ever since they lost the Hon. John Hart Cup series to Boss McGinnis' boys, July 1, the club from the Olympic Peninsula town has been seeking a return visit to Victoria.

GAME TONIGHT

A replay of last Friday's 4 to 4 draw between Eagles and Athletics will be played tonight at Athletic Park. Eagles' manager, Bill Bridgewood, will have his best diamond gang on hand in a determined attempt to humble the leading A's. Harry Harding will operate on the hillcock for the birdmen. Harding was the man who held the Athletics down in the drawn game. Lloyd Cann, speedball twirler, will operate on the mound for the leaders.

On Friday evening Pitzer and Nex, second-place team, will oppose Athletics. This will wind up the gasmen's Rithet Cup schedule.

FAVORITES WIN TENNIS MATCHES

Top-seeded Californians And Home-breds Advance In Washington State Meet

SEATTLE (AP)—Seeded favorites continued to march through State tennis tournament opposition at the Seattle Tennis Club yesterday.

Dick Bennett of Tacoma, Wash., and Ed Amark of San Francisco—ranked one-two—both won third round matches to head their respective brackets. Bennett defeated Herb Baumgartner 6-2, 6-3 and Amark won from Jim Hobart of Berkeley, 6-4, 6-4.

Today Amark met Walt Davis, the untried 17-year-old youngster from Portland who yesterday won the Pacific northwest sectional junior singles championship from Jim Brink of Seattle in straight sets. Davis advanced with a 6-0, 6-2 victory over Richard Ferrell of Seattle.

Jean Milne of Vancouver, B.C., scored a 6-2, 6-1 victory over Ann Cook, Seattle, to advance through the second round of women's singles.

May Hope Doeg of Santa Monica and Dr. Esther Barstow of Los Angeles also smashed through women's singles second-round opposition with little trouble. Gertrude Moran of Santa Monica advanced to the third round with an 11-9, 2-6, 6-2 victory over Cecile Miner of Long Beach, Calif.

SHOW MIGRATORY BIRD PICTURES

An illustrated lecture dealing with migratory birds, which should be of keen interest to Victoria sportsmen and the public generally, will be presented through the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association Monday night at 8 in the English Bakery Hall, Fort Street.

The films illustrate the activities of Ducks Unlimited Canada, a corporation formed for the purpose of rehabilitating and conserving bird life in the Dominion.

The pictures and lecture will be presented by O. L. Spencer, Alberta director of Ducks Unlimited.

Lee Entwistle, chairman of the entertainment committee of the fish and game club, reports that two other sport pictures will be presented besides the feature. The show will last about two and a half hours.

HANEY HOLDS HIS ST. LOUIS POST

Signed as Manager of Browns Ball Team for 1940; Offer Players Bonus

ST. LOUIS (AP)—To pump new life into St. Louis Browns, President Don Barnes yesterday signed manager Fred Haney for 1940 and offered players a bonus if they finish sixth or higher in the American League.

Under the bonus plan the eighth-place Browns will divide $10,000 if they finish sixth, $15,000 if they get up to fifth, and $20,000 if they reach fourth place.

Since the start of 1937, Rogers Hornsby, Jim Bottomley and Gabby Street haven't lasted a full season as manager of the Browns.

The Browns will split their bonus pool like world's series money, Barnes explained, if they can hurdle a couple of teams between now and the end of the season.

Barnes was warm in his praise of Haney, despite the poor showing of the club, which lost 56 of its first 80 games.

QUIST, CRAWFORD ADVANCE EASILY

Australian Tennis Stars Score Straight-set Victories at Brookline

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—A couple of hours rest was all Adrian Quist and Jack Crawford, members of the Australian Davis Cup forces, required to shake off the effects of a "bumpy" 24-hour transcontinental flight yesterday before making successful starts in the Longwood Bowl tennis tournament.

Crawford, forced to start from the first round, where he drew a default, found himself sharing the same third round bracket with Johnny Doeg of Rumson, N.J., the former United States singles titlist, after he romped through Phillip Jameson of Worcester, 6-1, 6-0.

Quist faced a more determined foe in William Hardie of Miami, but stroked to a 6-1, 6-3 triumph.

A bye, a default and a 6-1, 6-0 win over August Ganzemuller, New Yorker, moved top-seeded Gene Mako, the Davis Cup doubles player, into the quarter finals.

LAD HOOKS SEA MONSTER—13-year-old Walter Grey, right, of 76 Dallas Road, really started something he couldn't finish by himself yesterday morning when he hooked into the huge skate he is shown posing with above with his brother, Kenneth, off Rithet Docks. Walter battled the skate alone for some time but finally had to enlist the aid of a man to make the capture. The skate measured 6 feet 3 inches from tip to tail and was 4 feet 8 inches wide.

British Guiana Now Offered As World Refuge for Jews

tries can only be developed by tropical races, citing particularly the development of the Panama Canal Zone.

Hence Watson concludes: "It seems to me that the Jewish race may well find in British Guiana and some other parts of tropical South America a national home richer and more fertile than Palestine; and that in the Western Hemisphere they may achieve a standard of health and prosperity and a degree of freedom which has not been theirs for the last 2,000 years."

The jungle land of British Guiana... a haven for the old world's sore-pressed Jewry... or a forbidding wilderness?

LONDON—Having practically closed Palestine to Jewish immigration, the British government is toying with the idea of settling refugee Jews in British Guiana, its colony in the northern part of South America.

Not only do the Zionists refuse to consider this from sentimental and historical reasons—which drew them to Palestine, the land of their forefathers—but they claim that tropical diseases, tropical insects and conditions generally make it impossible for a race used to European and North American conditions to settle there.

It would require about $4,000,000 to establish experimental farms. It would take at least five years to see whether these farms could be worked practically.

AUTHORITY DECLARES SCHEME IMPRACTICABLE
British subjects who are not Jews have been waging a battle of words over the proposition. A. J. Schwelm, who is known as an authority on land settlement, condemns the whole scheme. Assuming a group of 3,000 to 5,000 settlers were landed in Georgetown, he says there would at once arise the problem of how to transport them and their possessions several hundred miles into the uninhabited interior. A first-class road, suitable for horse carts, or even more so for motor lorries, would be required. No such roads exist.

There have not even been preliminary surveys for roads. It would take years and lots of money to build such roads. They would be delayed, too, by torrential tropical rains.

For health reasons, he says, it would be best for settlers to live together in villages where they could have medical attention. But living in villages would be a serious handicap to farming. In the interior they would be subject to tropical diseases, particularly malaria. Their crops would be attacked by beetles and caterpillars and their homes by termites. Finally, he declared flatly, this territory is not a white man's country. It could be cultivated and developed only by the colored races.

ANOTHER AUTHORITY ENDORSES PLAN
But Malcolm Watson, of the Ross Institute of Tropical Hygiene, located in London, takes complete issue with Schwelm. He says he speaks from 39 years' close association with tropical development in Malaya, India and Africa, and from many visits to Java, Sumatra, Panama, the Philippines and British Guiana itself.

He does not think that preliminary settlements would fail if placed under the control of a man who is an agriculturist with a knowledge both of tropical development and of the control of malaria. He would have to be supported by medical men familiar with the treatment of malaria and other tropical diseases. Once such a settlement had been put on a proper footing, laymen and medical officers from there could go on to open other new settlements.

He denies that tropical coun-

COMISKEY TAKES 'FINAL STRIKE'

Owner of Chicago White Sox Major League Ball Club Passes Away

CHICAGO (AP)—Death of J. Louis Comiskey, president and owner of Chicago White Sox, removed from baseball one of the most colorful "second generation" leaders in the history of the sport.

Victim of a heart ailment and pneumonia, Comiskey died yesterday in the same summer home at Eagle River, Wis., where his famous father, Charles A. Comiskey, died eight years ago at the age of 72. He had been ill a week.

Comiskey was 54 and the only son of the noted "Old Roman" founder of the club. The body will be brought here tonight for funeral services Saturday.

By American League custom, the White Sox Saturday game with New York Yankees will be postponed.

Harry Grabiner, who started in the White Sox organization 36 years ago as an office boy, and served as vice-president of the club under both Comiskies, will continue in charge of the club.

Comiskey spent all his life in the service of the club his father organized 39 years ago but had no great part in its affairs until after his father's death in 1931. In the next eight years, however, despite almost constant ill health, he maneuvered the White Sox back into a position they had not occupied since the team was wrecked by the Black Sox scandal in 1919. The club finished in the first division in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

a sensation. He was shipped east, ran well, but failed to win. For a famous horse Malicious' record isn't impressive. He won about $40,000 in purses. He has run 170 races, winning 38. He has been consistent only at two miles. He has run 24 of these events, winning 14, placing three times, showing three times, and running out on four occasions.

One of the greatest judges of horses in America offered to back Malicious at three miles for a purse of $10,000 against great stake horses. There were no takers.

Admirers continue to write, enclosing coins with instructions that the money be spent for apples or sugar. Mrs. Urban has boxes full of letters... perhaps 100,000 of them.

The payoff on Malicious is that he always gave the customers a thrill.

CLEAN KIDNEYS OF POISONS AND STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS

HEALTHY KIDNEYS MEAN HAPPIER, LONGER LIFE

Thousands of men and women wonder why they bother themselves with the task of visiting the bathroom often at night—why the flow is scanty and sometimes smelly and burning. Any one of these symptoms means that your kidneys and bladder need attention before these minor symptoms develop into serious trouble. To purge out waste poisons and acid from kidneys, soothe your irritated bladder and put healthy activity into them, get a 40-cent package of GOLD MEDAL Haemolite Oil Capsules and take as directed.

This harmless, tried and true medicine really works—you should feel better in a few days. As this time-tested effective diuretic and kidney stimulant eliminates excess uric acid from the body which is often the cause of rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis.

Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—ask for Gold Medal Haemolite Oil Capsules—Haemolite is the genuine. GET GOLD MEDAL—the original—the genuine. Look for the Gold Medal on the box. All good things are limited.

Hopi and Navaho Customs

If you visit places where Indians sell "little dolls" in Arizona or New Mexico, it is likely you will be offered a small image of a god. The Hopi Indians make such doll-like images, calling them "kachinas."

In Hopi stores we hear of more than 150 kinds of kachinas. It is fancied that all of them have special powers. The images sold as dolls are usually of wood, and are painted red, blue, white, black and green.

In addition to the images, the Hopi tribesmen take part in kachina dances, both men and women doing the dancing. At such times, they put on masks with faces of the gods.

When white men visited Hopi villages in early times, they found masks of this kind. The masks were made of leather, cloth or strips of woven bark. Dangling from them were feathers, bits of hair, pieces of painted wood, and the like.

Among the masks was one which stood for the Plumed Serpent. It was supposed to be more holy than most of the others, and great care was taken of it between dances. Other masks could be painted over again when the paint wore off, but no one was allowed to do this to the image of the face of the Plumed Serpent.

The Hopi people were found by Coronado when he was searching for the "Seven Golden Cities." Leading hundreds of Spanish soldiers, Coronado found villages. They did not contain great stores of gold, as he had hoped, but they were interesting because of the strange, well-built houses in them.

The Hopis are experts at making baskets and clay jars. They also are skilled in weaving blankets. As I said recently, it is likely that women of the Hopi or some other Pueblo tribe married into the Navaho tribe, and taught the Navahos the art of making blankets. Perhaps these women were captured in war hundreds of years ago.

In any case, the Navahos have become more famous than any other tribe for their blankets. Tourists buy the blankets and pay good prices for them.

From early Spanish explorers, Indians of the southwest obtained sheep, and herds are owned nowadays by the Indian tribes of Arizona and New Mexico. Wool from the sheep is used in making blankets.

The wool must be washed with care after it is sheared. Then the Navaho women dry it and spin it into yarn. Later they dye the yarn to make it red, blue, yellow, black and so on. Then, with the help of a loom, they weave it into a blanket.

There are many figures and designs on Navaho blankets. In olden times it seems there was a special meaning in the designs of each blanket. At present, the designs have lost much of their meaning, since they are made for sale, not for family use.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1939

Benefic aspects rule strongly today. Long-awaited developments will reach a happy climax, according to astrology. Every opportunity should be grasped while this planetary government continues.

The morning is a rarely favorable time for women and their highest hopes. Those with artistic gifts should benefit greatly if they avoid romance and concentrate on study. Actresses and musicians are well directed.

Girls who depend upon their own efforts should succeed today, but those who desire to enlist aid from persons in high positions are under adverse sway.

Beginnings of all kinds are subject to the best influences. Initiative involving capital as well as talent is under promising rule of the stars.

Neptune is in a place encouraging deceit and secrecy. Double-dealing and untruthfulness may be common this month.

Ocean travel may be attended with unusual experiences at this time. The naves of the world will be active. Real drama on the high seas is a possibility.

With minds encouraged and uplifted, men and women today may expect much pleasure and stimulation. It is a fortunate date for meeting persons of opposite sex. Good news may appear today in the newspapers of great interest to citizens of Canada.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of great promise. It is important to avoid all risks. Control of the temper and the tongue is enjoined.

Children born on this day will be kindly and sympathetic, artistic and talented. These subjects of Cancer may have Leo characteristics, for they are on the cusp.

ANSWER: Red. Of course, when one speaks of fruit being "green," it generally is taken to mean "unripe" and has no reference to color, although most unripe fruits are more or less greenish.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl 20 years old, an only child. Quiet, studious, do good work at school and am obedient to my parents, but here is the catch: Suddenly my father, who is prone to notions that are veritable antiques, informed me that I was a painted doll and must leave off lipstick and nail polish, which are all the cosmetics that I use. Now I have always worn lipstick and am just a plain freak without it. Surely common sense should tell him that I wear it when he is not around. However, I am afraid that some time there will be a day of reckoning when I defy him and put it on when we are going out to dinner, and I fear his wrath. My father is a grand man and a wonderful provider, but he is a domestic tyrant whose will must be obeyed. Our house is just—when he is crossed. Not a word is spoken at the table and nobody dares breathe until he is appeased. I have never had a steady boy friend on account of him. What to do?

ANSWER: Well, if you are one of the girls who put on their lipstick with a trowel and whose mouths always look like a raw cut of butcher's meat, I don't blame your father. But if you use it delicately and artistically, he is foolish to object to it. It is the abuse, not the use of cosmetics that is wrong. Personally, I think that we owe a debt of gratitude to every woman who turns mousey hair golden and stringy locks into becoming curls; who makes roses blossom on sallow cheeks, and turns straight, pale lips into cupid's bows. DOROTHY DIX.

Duncan
DUNCAN—The funeral of Blanche Greenwood, wife of Charles Greenwood, Arbutus Point, Maple Bay, was held Sunday from the family residence. Rev. T. L. Lipp conducted the service at All Saints Church, Westholme. With Mrs. Bailey, Crofton, at the organ, two hymns were sung, "Sun of My Soul" and "Breathe on Me Breath of God." Interment was made in All Saints Cemetery, beside the Chemainus River.

She leaves, at home, in addition to her husband, two daughters Evelyn and Joyce, and one son, Gerald; two sisters, Mrs. H. Voisin in England and Mrs. G. Westholme. With Mrs. Bailey, Crofton, at the organ, two hymns

Canadian Contingents Welcomed at Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—Three hundred Canadians from all parts of the Dominion arrived by special trains here today to join the representatives of 25 nations who will gather 20,000 strong, at the Moral Rearmament World Assembly in the Hollywood Bowl to night. A message from the Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, to the Bowl Assembly, heralded the Canadian contingent.

Mr. Mackenzie's message runs: "I have the greatest pleasure in forwarding a message of good will and cheer to the World Assembly for Moral Rearmament in California. Although my present duties are primarily concerned with the provision of armaments for the security of my country, I realize that permanent peace can only be established among nations by rallying our people around the banners of friendship, tolerance, mutual understanding and mutual trust. Let us hope such ideals will prevail in the minds of the leaders of all nations."

GREETED BY BAGPIPES

The skirl of bagpipes greeted the Canadians as they stepped to the station platform. The 13 kiltsed Scots, who recently crossed Canada, marched before them as their guard of honor. They were also met by a large crowd of representatives from some of the many nations here, including China and Japan, Germany and France, all parts of Europe and all over the Empire.

The special train from the east carried "Bunny" Austin, the British tennis star, whose book on Moral Rearmament has sold 500,000 copies during the last six months. With him is his wife, Phyllis Konstam, the London actress.

Among today's arrivals from Canada are Harold Mosher of Ottawa, head of the Canadian Trades and Labor Council, and Mrs. Mosher; Gen. and Mrs. W. G. Beaman, Kingston; Payson Sherman, M.P., Quebec; Wilbur Philpott, editor of Liberty Magazine, Toronto; Lady Nanton and Paul Nanton, Winnipeg; and John Jukes, president Vancouver Stock Exchange. From Ottawa, too, comes Cecil Morris.

son—the happy baker—who baked the King's birthday cake during the Royal Visit.

COME BY TRAINLOADS

Today's trainloads make up the biggest contingent to arrive here so far. Canadians have been reaching Hollywood all week by bus, car and airplane.

National leaders from all over the world are sending messages to the World Assembly. The governors of 31 American states have sent a joint "Call for the Moral Rearmament of our Country," in which they say:

"We as Governors of States, recognizing that the underlying cause of the present crisis is moral, and seeing in Moral Rearmament the way to meet it, pledge ourselves to seek the solution to a national problem in a true spirit of patriotism."

"We urge every citizen to do the same, believing that only as we unite in this spirit, can we help lead the world to sanity and peace."

Outstanding among the many other messages comes this cable from Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the explorer, "I have been to both poles and flown the Atlantic in the old days, but 24 hours with the Oxford Group was an even more interesting experience. Moral Rearmament—the fight for a new America, strong, clean, united—should fire the hearts of all red-blooded Americans and stir their wills to action."

PENSIONERS TO HOLD TAG DAY

The Victoria Branch, Canadian Pensioners' Association, will hold a tag day next Saturday for funds to enable the continuance of its work for ex-service men.

In a communication received from the association, R. C. Kean, secretary, points out that the organization is comprised of men in Victoria who have seen service on an active front and suffered disablement.

"Our work is done for all men of both the British and Canadian overseas men in Victoria whether they are members or not. We have no paid officials, our constitution disallows that," he writes.

"Work comprises legitimate claims of widows' children, parents who have lost sons in the late war and for burnt-out veterans, war veterans allowance. We have no means of any revenue other than our appeal to the public every year."

"Since we commenced work here in Victoria 602 cases have been brought to a successful conclusion."

TOWN TOPICS

A special meeting of Wards 1 and 3 Saanich Liberal Association will be held Friday evening at 8 in St. Aidan's Hall.

G. G. McGeer, M.P., of Vancouver, was a visitor to the city today. He paid a call on members of the provincial cabinet at the Legislative Buildings.

The regular general meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada will be held in the club auditorium tomorrow night at 8. Motion pictures of the annual picnic will be shown.

While walking along Yates Street last night, between Cook and Ormond Streets, Mrs. K. M. Miller, 2207 Fernwood Road, had her purse snatched by two men who walked up behind her, a city police report said. The report was made by Mrs. Miller's daughter who was walking with her.

Increasing fire hazard in some forest districts was reported by the B.C. forestry service today, although the fire toll is not serious. Fires to date this year total 529, slightly over half last year's figure of 558. In the Vancouver district, which takes in the big logging areas of Vancouver Island, there have been 125 fires, compared to 271 last year.

VICTORIAN TIED FOR RIFLE PRIZE

Bombardier C. Rasmussen and Two Others Score 97's in B.C.R.A. Match

BLAIR RIFLE RANGE, NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Vancouver shots and a bombardier from Esquimalt tied today for the Duff-Stuart Trophy at the British Columbia Rifle Association's meet here today.

Sergeant A. E. Biddlecombe of the B.C. Regiment, and Fusilier Ian Grant of the Irish Fusiliers of Canada, posted 97's over the two ranges along with Bombardier C. Rasmussen of the Garrison Rifle Association, Esquimalt.

Rasmussen added a 49 out of a possible 50 at 600 yards to his 48 on the 300-yard range. Biddlecombe and Grant posted identical scores, 49 over the shorter range and 48's at 600 yards.

Sergeant J. H. Regan of Victoria's 16th Canadian Scottish, who scored a perfect score of 50 over the first range, added five more consecutive bull's-eyes at 600 yards.

Then as a miniature cloudburst struck the marksman, he slipped in two inners and faltered for a magpie over the last five shots for a 96.

Bracketed with Sgt. Regan at 96 were C.S.M. Len Willoughby of the Seaforth Highlanders, Vancouver, and Sgt. G. S. Carr, Royal Canadian Ordnance, Victoria, and Warrant Officer W. H. Wood, Esquimalt.

Leniency Plea Fails

Last Friday Thomas Cawsey was given suspended sentence on a charge of drunkenness because he wanted to get back to Vancouver and see his wife and children. In City Police Court this morning he was sentenced to 20 days on a similar charge when he failed to take advantage of the magistrate's leniency and got drunk again.

After pleading guilty to the charge this morning, Cawsey said: "Would Your Honor allow me to get out of town?"

"I gave you that chance last week, surely you wouldn't expect it again, would you? I sentence you to 20 days' hard labor," replied Magistrate Hall.

No Real Break In Weather Yet

Unsettled Conditions Are Expected to Return Again Tomorrow Night

There is not much use hoping for warm weather and clear blue skies for a few days yet, according to weather observers at the Gonzales Meteorological Observatory.

It will be clearer and a little more settled tonight and tomorrow, but tomorrow evening unsettled weather is again expected.

What the coming week-end will bring forecasters were unable to say.

The heaviest rain of the summer fell yesterday afternoon between 3 and 5. Hundreds of persons were caught without umbrellas and rubbers and rushed for shelter. More than 1,000 excursionists, in town from Vancouver and Bellingham stayed in stores and hotel lobbies or returned to their steamers hours before sailing time.

Rain held off today, the clouds cleared away to a certain extent and two big outdoor affairs, the carnival at Sooke and the garden party at Government House were able to be held as scheduled with everyone keeping a wary eye on the clouds.

The driving rain of yesterday put a few more splits in the sweet cherry crop and considerably damaged unharvested hay. Farmers are becoming philosophical about the disappointing midsummer weather this year, and are doing their work between showers.

The sweet cherry crop has suffered the most damage, only about 60 per cent being marketable.

IN TOWN TODAY

On a hurried visit to the Pacific Northwest, Edward Joseph Kelly, mayor of Chicago, North America's second largest city, was in Victoria for a few hours yesterday afternoon on his way to the San Francisco Fair, where he will take the leading role at Chicago Day ceremonies next week.

He arrived from Vancouver on the afternoon steamer and proceeded to Seattle two hours later. He took a sightseeing drive about the city and environs and told the taxi driver he would return at some future date for a longer holiday in the city.

D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, accompanied by Mrs. Robertson, was in Victoria during the course of a holiday visit to the Pacific Northwest.

In Vancouver yesterday Mr. Robertson was entertained by officers of the Vancouver lodge and taken on a trip about Vancouver harbor on the launch Fipsa.

Among guests registered at the Empress Hotel were Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Arbuckle, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Grant and Miss Grant, Wellesley, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Allan, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Yates, Winnipeg; and Mrs. M. J. Rosenbaum, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. James McKay, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. F. Seifert, Bellingham; Dr. and Mrs. R. J. J. Tipler, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dalton, Vancouver; Mrs. E. B. Broadbent, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Jones, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Preston and Mrs. G. T. Fields, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McBain, Mr. and Mrs. E. Baeschlin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Gordon, Miss M. L. Bollert, Ira Dilworth, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Raymer, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Malkin and Mrs. and Mrs. John H. Constantine, all of Vancouver.

Major increases in the Okanagan apple crop are in Wealthies and Old Winesaps, with a considerable drop in Yellow Newtons, Delicious and Jonathans.

The peach and apricot crops in the Okanagan are about 10 per cent higher, but plums and pears are less.

Vancouver Island tree fruit crops are approximately the same as last year except for an increase of 18 per cent in apples, which are expected to produce 32,000 boxes.

PLAN REVIEW OF TRANSPORT ISSUE

The advisability of establishing a Greater Victoria transportation system will be discussed tomorrow morning at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee in the City Hall at 10.

The meeting was arranged this morning by Mayor McGavin and members of the committee include the utilities committee of the City Council and Reeves of the three adjoining municipalities.

Poles Would Fight for Danzig

LONDON (AP)—The News Chronicle in a dispatch from Warsaw today quoted Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz as saying that "Poland has decided to fight for Danzig even if she has to fight alone."

"We will exhaust all methods of settling the question of Danzig peacefully," the marshal was quoted as saying in an interview. "Then if Germany persists in her plans for an Anschluss, Poland will fight even if she fights alone and without allies."

Many friends attended the service. The pallbearers were V. Pearson, S. Plifcroft, H. Peasland, G. MacGregor, S. Thorn and N. Chamberlain. Burial was at Royal Oak.

B.C. APPLE CROP DOWN SLIGHTLY

Estimate for 1939 Now Placed at 5,876,525 Boxes

A drop of 3.4 per cent in the Okanagan apple crop and an increase of 1.3 per cent in the Kootenay crop is estimated by the horticultural branch of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture for this year.

Total crop from the two big apple-growing areas is placed at $5,775,525 boxes, a decrease of 3 per cent from last year. For the whole province the estimate is 5,876,525 boxes, against 6,048,521 boxes in 1938.

The McIntosh Reds, main producers, will pack about 1,803,250 boxes in the Okanagan and 209,000 boxes in the Kootenays, against 1,851,255 boxes and 187,626 boxes last year.

Major increases in the Okanagan crop are in Wealthies and Old Winesaps, with a considerable drop in Yellow Newtons, Delicious and Jonathans.

The peach and apricot crops in the Okanagan are about 10 per cent higher, but plums and pears are less.

Vancouver Island tree fruit crops are approximately the same as last year except for an increase of 18 per cent in apples, which are expected to produce 32,000 boxes.

BRITISH ISRAELITES

Addressing the Victoria and District British-Israel Association last night in the Y.M.C.A. on "Moral Rearmament," Mrs. E. W. Abraham pointed out that three things were absolutely necessary for world peace—repentance, faith in the atonement of Jesus Christ and obedience to the moral law. She said that moral rearmament was impossible unless the moral law was kept. This law, given centuries ago, and handed down through the generations, was ratified in every detail by Jesus Christ in the Sermon on the Mount, and was taught to His disciples. It was, she stated, all summed up in the one word love, for love was the fulfilling of the law. It did not abrogate the law. Each individual must give the answer, in his or her life, by demonstrating the value of living according to the law and its effect upon a troubled world.

ASTHMA ATTACK FATAL TO GIRL

Ivy Georgina Smith, 14, Beyond Aid When Medical Aid and Inhaler Arrive

Ivy Georgina Smith, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Smith and the late George William Smith, 3030 Quadra Street, died last night following an attack of asthma despite efforts of a doctor and an inhaler crew from the City Fire Department to revive her.

Medical aid and the inhaler crew were summoned by the girl's mother shortly after the attack but she was beyond assistance when they arrived, death being due to choking.

Dr. E. L. McEwen and Deputy Fire Chief J. A. Raymond with Lieut. F. Briers and Gray Russell attended the call and worked for about half an hour to revive her. Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, was notified. No decision on an inquest had been made today. Medical authorities said fatal asthmatic attacks were unusual.

Miss Smith was born in Victoria and, besides her mother, she is mourned by a sister, Hilja, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stevens, all at 3030 Quadra Street; her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, in England, and uncles and aunts in Victoria, England and Australia.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 from the family residence. Rev. L. A. Wilcox will officiate and interment will be in Colwood Burial Park. Flowers delivered to McCall Brothers' Funeral Home will be taken to the family residence.

Moral Rearmament Rally in Hollywood

1,000 Delegates Gather For First Session Tonight; Bunny Austin to Speak

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP)—Nearly 1,000 delegates were ready today for a "call to the nations" rally in the Hollywood Bowl tonight on behalf of moral rearmament.

Among the scheduled speakers is A. W. (Bunny) Austin, noted British tennis star. Arriving on a special 22-car train, Austin said:

"I have traveled the 6,000 miles from England to California because I believe moral rearmament is the one hope of saving a civilization poised on the edge of catastrophe."

"As a tennis player, I believe sports have a real part to play in this program. Sportsmen morally rearm can create through sports a mighty instrument to raise the thinking and living of individuals and nations and help in uniting the world."

The moral rearmament plan has been called a "war against greed and hate."

Leaders in the movement announced receipt of a message from Sir Samuel Hoare, British Home Secretary, reading:

"I wish every success to the move for rearmament. The more difficult and dangerous the problems of the world become the more thinking men and women are thrown back on their individual consciences."

"If each one of us asks the question how best we can help make the world better, the answer, while its application may vary in detail, must be the same in both the eastern and western hemispheres. It must be the strengthening of our moral fibres and our recognition of our responsibilities toward our fellow men and women."

About 150 western Canadian delegates to the bowl rally arrived on a special train today.

Many prominent Canadians also were among the 300 persons who arrived yesterday on a special train from New York.

Leaders of the movement announced Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Canadian Minister of National Defence, had sent them a message of good will in connection with tonight's meeting.

Bridges Communist Declares Witness

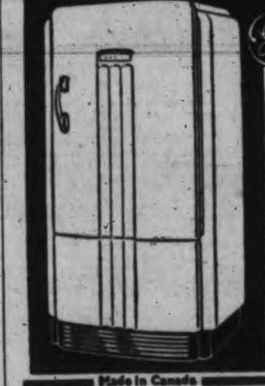

At San Francisco Hearing A. Sapiro Tells of Links

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Aaron Sapiro, San Francisco and Hollywood attorney, testified at the Harry Bridges deportation trial here today that in 1936 "Harry Bridges told me he was running the Communist Party and the Communist Party was running the maritime unions on the Pacific coast."

Sapiro also testified Earl Browder, leader of the Communist Party in the United States, in 1936 had told him: "I know Harry Bridges and all about him. He's one of the hardest members we have to handle in the party."

Sapiro was called to the stand by the government in the hearing on Angel Island.

HARLAN, KY., COAL MINE DISPUTE ENDS

Men to Resume Work Under Terms Arranged Today

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Harlan County, Ky., soft coal labor dispute was settled today in an agreement reached by the County Coal Operators' Association and United Mine Workers' officials.

Dr. John R. Steelman, director of conciliation for the United States Department of Labor, announced the settlement.

The contract, drafting of which was begun immediately for signing later in the afternoon, will provide: 1. Recognition of the United Mine Workers as the exclusive bargaining agent for all employees of the members of the association, except exempted classes, until March 31, 1941.

2. Waiving of the "union shop" and "strike penalty" clauses of the "Appalachian agreement."

3. Immediate dismissal of all eviction cases against union miners in the county.

4. Submission to an arbitration board of disputes arising over the collection of union dues.

5. Agreement by the association to co-operate with the union in securing convenient and adequate meeting places for the local unions.

6. Immediate return to work of all employees to their respective mines without discrimination or prejudice.

DIONNE-DAFOE HEARING SOON

North Bay Judge Rules He Has Power to Decide Quin's Contracts Revenue

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Judge J. A. S. Plouffe ruled today he had jurisdiction to try a suit launched by Olivia Dionne asking that Dr. Allan Dafeoe reimburse the estate of the Dionne quintuplets for any revenue gained by contracts Dr. Dafeoe entered into involving use of the five girls' names.

Argument on whether Judge Plouffe had jurisdiction was presented last week when the judge said he hoped, if he found he had jurisdiction, that counsel for one of the parties would enter a motion asking the case be taken to a higher court.

In the judgment today, Judge Plouffe said:

"The claimant may now apply to me... for necessary directions as to pleadings, production of documents, discovery and otherwise in connection with this issue, unless in the meantime either party may deem it advisable to apply to a judge of the Supreme Court for an order removing the proceedings to the Supreme Court of Ontario."

The question of costs was reserved until final disposition of the case.

Judge Plouffe's decision hinged on the meaning of the word "guardian" as it occurs in the Dionne Quintuplets Guardianship Act of 1935 and the amendments to the act made in 1937.

Arthur G. Slaght, counsel for Dr. Dafeoe, argued that the word "guardian" in the Quintuplets Act meant guardian under a will. Henri St. Jacques, counsel for Mr. Dionne, claimed it meant guardian as set out in the Infants Act. Judge Plouffe found for Mr. Dionne.

Revolver Charges

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five men were arrested and three loaded revolvers seized when police staged two separate raids in the east end district last night. The was charged with carrying an offensive weapon and three companions booked for investigation after police had stopped a rented automobile and found two .38 calibre revolvers, loaded with blank.

A fifth man was taken into custody for questioning after detectives had entered a downtown rooming house and discovered a gun on the man's bed.

SCOUT NEWS

St. Paul's, Esquimalt, troop of Boy Scouts spent an enjoyable week at the Cowichan district Scout camp which was located on a beautiful site overlooking the sea at Crofton. Forty Scouts from Duncan, Quamichan and Esquimalt were under canvas at Camp Mesika, which was under the charge of Col. E. M. Dopping-Hepenstal, district commissioner, assisted by Scouters Hugh Savage and Arthur Bischofberger and A.S.M. Henry Langlois.

The usual camp activities and recreations kept the boys busy from reveille to lights out, and each evening ended with a campfire, entertainment and prayers.

Special instruction was given for the rescuer's and camp cook's badges. Twelve Scouts passed the tests.

The highlights of the week were a raid staged by the Quamichan Rover Scouts under Akela Jim Green, and the initiation of all tenderfoot campers by Capt. Hook.

The tent competition was very keen and was won by the Esquimalt Curlews under P.L. George Kinch by a small margin.

The award for the best young Scout in camp went to Arthur LeQuenne of Duncan. The Esquimalt troop is indebted to Arthur Young, T. Tams and R. Hadfield for invaluable help in many ways.

Early 'Gas Buggy' Inventor Says Modern Autos Are a Nuisance

Used to Speed
At 10 Miles
An Hour Clip

R. E. OLDS

By WILLIAM A. BAKER JR.
-LANSING, Mich.—Ransom E.

Olds built in 1896 what was perhaps the first automobile constructed for commercial purposes, and he has lived to be a hearty man of 75 who "never expected automobiles to be such a nuisance as they are today."

Olds, whose name lives in two modern automobiles, the Oldsmobile and the Reo, lives quietly here, alternating with a home in Daytona Beach, Fla. But he likes to recall the days when everybody thought the horseless carriage was a fad that would "never catch on."

The expedients of the day seem almost incredible now, but Olds recalls that he once actually put the paper mache-head of a horse on the front end of one of his cars in the hope that it would fool passing horses and avert the series of runaways which accompanied every trip on the road by the snorting first autos.

TRAVELING TRAPEZE
"At one time," Olds recalled, "I had a trapeze built on a car, and a man performed on the trapeze above the driver while the car was in motion. This was done at county fairs to attract attention, because the public thought the motor car would never amount to anything. But the more foresighted people did come to Lansing in droves to see the cars, and President Theodore Roosevelt was among them. I gave him his first public ride in a motor vehicle.

R. E. Olds and Mrs. Olds in horseless carriage parade procession at Lansing, Mich., in 1901.

"We had to compete with horses in our first models. I remember an advertisement which read: 'This graceful and practical automobile will do the work of six horses at an average cost of $35 (10,000 miles). Board alone for one horse costs $180 a year, so the economy is very evident.'"

Olds advised Henry Ford, then working for Edison at $1,000 a year, "to get into the motor vehicle business, because it had an excellent future." Of all the motor pioneers, Ford is today the only one who is still active in the industry. Olds having recently retired as chairman of the board of the Reo Motor Company.

and others were working toward the same goal.

HOW FORD BROKE IN

As late as 1899 there were only about 50 automobiles in the United States; two years later Olds himself produced almost 4,000.

"The first Oldsmobile made in Detroit sold for $1,200," Olds recalls, "and the venture was more or less of a commercial failure. The public didn't understand the cars, which were too complicated. One of the things that helped the motor industry greatly was the development of forced lubrication—until that came along we had a lot of trouble with oiling. Rubber tires also helped a lot—we have to take off our hats to the man who developed the modern rubber tire."

Olds advised Henry Ford, then working for Edison at $1,000 a year, "to get into the motor vehicle business, because it had an excellent future." Of all the motor pioneers, Ford is today the only one who is still active in the industry. Olds having recently retired as chairman of the board of the Reo Motor Company.

Father of Nine New Hobo Secretary

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh man, so domesticated he has nine children, is the new international secretary of the League of Hoboes of the World and of the Hoboes of America.

He's George Siebert, 47-year-old union business agent and formerly one of 17 vice-presidents of the hobo league. Jeff Davis, king of the hoboes, named him to replace John Weller, one-time Altoona, Pa., police sergeant who died last week.

Siebert met Davis in Chicago while he was on the road in 1912. He rode the freights for six years before marriage and children began to tie him down in a home.

Davis, stopping here on his way from Weller's funeral, announced the international convention of hoboes scheduled for Toronto in September had been canceled because of the secretary's death.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Enough plane pilots and technicians to form a small airline were assembled at Selznick International Studio recently at technical advisers on the Carole Lombard-James Stewart picture, "Made For Each Other," directed by John Cromwell, which is now being shown at the Oak Bay Theatre.

Heading the list was Benny Howard, famous racing pilot and president of the Howard Aircraft Corporation, who, as research pilot for United Airlines has been testing the giant 42-passenger DC-4, largest commercial land plane ever constructed.

Where to Go Tonight

(As Advertised)

ATLAS—Edward G. Robinson in "Nazi Spy."

CAPITOL—Jack Benny and Rochester in "Man About Town."

COLUMBIA—Gloria Stuart and Henry Wilcoxon in "Keep Smiling."

DOMINION—"You Can't Get Away With Murder," starring Humphrey Bogart.

OAK BAY—"Made For Each Other," with Carole Lombard and James Stewart.

PLAZA—"Prison Without Bars," starring Corinne Luchaire.

Railroad Epic Will Open at the Atlas

Cecil B. De Mille's most-treasured compliment on his latest production, "Union Pacific," due tomorrow at the Atlas Theatre, came from William M. Jeffers, president of the "U.P." system and one of the nation's most important railroad men.

Visiting the producer-director at Paramount, Jeffers revealed that he had spent several days during the preceding week incognito at De Mille's "Union Pacific" location in Utah, watching proceedings and satisfying himself that railroad history was being faithfully pictured.

De Mille's new film glorifies the people who built America's first transcontinental railroad and united a nation. Its stars are Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A magnificent harem scene is one of the features of the picture, "Man About Town," which stars Jack Benny, and which is now attracting large and appreciative audiences to the Capitol Theatre. Mr. Benny, who is so popular with millions of radio and picture fans—plays the role of a sultan, and there is fun galore for everyone.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

In what is by all odds the grandest picture she has ever made—the happiest, the funniest—Jane Wither is now at the Columbia Theatre in "Keep Smiling," first of 20th Century-Fox's 1938-39 pictures for the popular young star, with Gloria Stuart and Henry Wilcoxon heading a splendid cast which includes Helen Westley, Jed Prouty, Douglas Fowley and Robert Allen.

DOMINION THEATRE

With Humphrey Bogart in the starring role, "You Can't Get Away With Murder," a powerful drama of racketeering and gangsterdom, is now at the Dominion Theatre. The picture was adapted from a play by Lewis E. Lawes and Jonathan Finn in collaboration, and for which the famous Sing Sing prison warden has drawn largely from his personal experiences.

Northern Brothers Return to Alberta

J. and N. Verville
On Farm Near Alberta
After Years in Arctic

EDMONTON (CP)—The Arctic's Verville brothers swapped life in the north for the quiet of a country farm today.

The brothers, Joseph and Noel Verville, after living as trappers in the Arctic since 1912, came out, arriving here by train this week. Having made their stake, they are going to call it quits.

For their wives, the decision means a much easier and more comfortable existence because they have been with their husbands through all the dangers of the north.

And their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ludger Verville, are glad about it too.

For "Joe" Verville, 47, it will mean the end of two years' trapping in the near north, eight years' trapping in the Arctic, and four years as self-described "general handy man" for the federal government reindeer herd 80 miles northwest of Akivik.

For brother Noel, 44, it will mean the end of 27 consecutive years of northern trapping and trading. Mostly in the Arctic regions.

Perhaps their brush with Albert Johnson, the "mad trapper" of Rat River, in early 1932 was the most exciting and dangerous incident. Both aided in the great hunt for Johnson, and "ducked" and shot their share of rifle bullets. Johnson was shot and killed by Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Four years' work with the government's thriving, Alaska-born reindeer herd on and near the Mackenzie River delta was the most fascinating experience of his Arctic life for Joe Verville. The herd is thriving. In 1935, the first census of weight disclosed an average of 145 to 155 pounds per deer; now the figure is 175 to 180 pounds. The herd arrived from Alaska totaling 2,700 deer; now there are between 7,000 and 8,000 and the first small herd of 900 has been split off and sent eastward along the coast.

ENTERTAINS EMPRESS—The Emperor and Empress of Annam, an important part of French Indo-China, were recently entertained by the President of France, M. Lebrun. He is seen here beckoning to other members of his luncheon party, just before escorting the Empress in. The Empress wears the Anamese royal costume with long trousers beneath the flowered dress.

Hear Harold Winch, M.P.P., Monday, July 24, 8 p.m., Chamber of Commerce.

PLAZA THEATRE

Corinne Luchaire, the blonde beauty who makes her film debut in Alexander Korda's "Prison Without Bars," now at the Plaza Theatre, claims that the vogue for slenderizing diets has caused smart women to forget that curves are still popular in Paris.
